

Lindbergh Lands At Panama Goal On Perfect Time

Greatest Aviator Completes First Air Mail Delivery From United States to Canal Zone.

TO START RETURN JOURNEY SUNDAY

Exactly at 4 P. M., Announced Arrival Time, Flying Colonel Swoops to Colon Field.

Colon, Panama, February 6.—(AP) Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh landed at France field, outside the city, at 4 p. m., completing the first air mail delivery from the United States to the Panama Canal Zone.

A large crowd swarmed over the field when the plane first appeared faintly in the sky. Colonel Lindbergh made a graceful landing, reported that he had encountered excellent weather throughout the flight and delivered six mail sacks containing 350 pounds of letters to the authorities.

Colon Lindbergh announced that he would start his return flight to Miami Sunday morning, making the same stops as on the southern flight. From Monday at 6:08 a. m. until the landing today the Lindbergh special maintained the schedule marked out by the air mail authorities. Leaving Miami he stopped at Havana and remained overnight at B-ize, British Honduras.

He left Belize at 9:10 a. m. Tuesday, passed briefly at Tela, Honduras, and landed in Managua, at 3:45 p. m. Tuesday. He made two stops between Managua and his final destination, one at Punta Arenas and one at David, Panama.

A remarkable feature of Colonel Lindbergh's achievement is that he completed the historical flight exactly on the minute. It had been officially announced that the mail would arrive at 4 p. m. today. It was precisely that moment when the colonel taxied his plane across the field to a rest. Twenty-one hundred miles over sea, land and high mountains in three days is the new record for mail deliveries between the United States and Panama, a journey heretofore requiring from 12 to 13 days.

2,000 See Arrival.
Lindbergh brought his big plane down at France field before about 2,000 cheering persons.

He crawled from the plane and immediately started assisting in unloading the six bags of mail which totaled about 350 pounds.

"We must protect the mail first," he said to those who surrounded him.

The crowd seemed even more enthusiastic than on Lindbergh's first visit here. The famous flier appeared happy to have ended successfully another important flight in Central America.

Asked whether he had enjoyed his trip, Lindbergh laughed and said: "I wouldn't say just that."

Commercial passengers will not be carried by the company until the service is demonstrated to be safe, Lindbergh said, expressing the hope that this will be demonstrated within a few months.

Lindbergh will carry only Canal Zone mail on his return trip, but the service eventually will carry mail for all countries on the route.

TRUSTS MERGER
CREATES BILLION DOLLAR CONCERN

New York, February 6.—(AP)—Formal announcement of an agreement to merge the Goldman Sachs Trading Corporation and the Financial and Industrial Securities Corporation, two of the largest investment trusts, was made today.

The announcement said the consolidated corporation would have combined capital and surplus of $244,000,000. This total, combined with the resources of the institutions and companies in which the corporation would hold a dominant interest, notably in the banking and insurance field, will make an aggregate of more than $1,000,000,000.

MARTIN JENSEN FAILS IN EFFORT FOR AIR RECORD

California Forced Down At Mitchell Field In Flight For Solo Endurance Mark.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., February 7.—(AP)—Martin Jensen, in the Bellanca airplane Green Flash, failed in an attempt to set a solo endurance flight record when he landed at 2:10 this morning. He went aloft at 9:04 a. m., Wednesday.

Jensen took off yesterday in the face of adverse weather conditions, remaining aloft through a drizzling rain for 17.6 hours.

He had set out to break the record of 35.25 hours established by the late Royal Thomas.

Shortly after 5 o'clock this afternoon Jensen, circling not more than 400 feet above the flying fields in the darkness, dropped two notes in a cardboard box.

"After eight hours in the air," one note read, "I am cold and hungry. The weather is terrible, the way it looks it's going to be a tough night. I am neither cramped nor tired. Everything is working 100 per cent. Haven't touched those hard rolls yet."

Mechanics worked all day to get a battery of new flood lights recently installed here in operation, but when darkness fell they were yet in working order. Automobile headlights were ready, however.

Thirty Killed
As Moslems
Attack Hindus

300 Hurt in Riot Over Suspected Kidnaping of Boys.

Bombay, India, February 6.—(United Press)—Thirty persons, including one British police inspector, were dead and nearly 300 had been injured tonight in the riots which started as an attack of workmen on Pathans suspected of planning to kidnap boys and develop into a Hindu-Muslim communal battle.

Moslems clashed with Hindus near the Bhandari hotel this afternoon, and heavy casualties were suffered by both sides in that notoriously lawless locality.

Moslems attacked Hindu car drivers there and police were unable to disperse the mob until troops were called. Pathans have deserted two Hindu temples.

Troops fired on the rioters late today three times. The streets are heavily guarded by soldiers with machine guns.

Snook Called to Conference.

Snook himself was called to Washington during the summer to answer the charges personally and was forced to undergo questioning at the hands of the woman assistant attorney-general for more than three hours without being advised in advance of the purpose of the inquiry. He was sent to Atlanta with the statement that he would be informed later of the department's action in his case. So far known, he has never been informed that the incident was closed, and the present reopening is believed by those on the inside to hold dire consequences for him.

Strained relations have existed between Snook and Willibrand ever since the period of Carroll's incarceration, arising from publicity attending the theatrical producer's activities there. RUMOR OF SNOOK'S OUSTING PERSISTS

Mrs. Willibrand Believed Moving Against Local Warden Despite Department Denial.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Special Staff Correspondent.

Washington, February 6.—Despite pointed denials from the department of justice, information of an authoritative character persisted tonight that Mrs. Mabel Walker Willibrand, assistant United States attorney general, is proceeding with plans for laying on the official block the head of Warden John P. Snook, of the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

While no comment was forthcoming from Mrs. Willibrand personally, a statement was made through her secretary that no change has occurred in the status of Warden Snook. The woman assistant attorney general herself declined to be interviewed on the reports, but in response to questions by newspapermen, Attorney General Sargent professed to have no knowledge of the situation. He declared simply that he knew of no plans for having Snook ousted.

Wilcox in Washington.
Nevertheless, it is known that Thomas W. Wilcox, chief of the department's undercover forces at Detroit, has been in Washington since last Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Willibrand and other department officials regarding the investigation he made of the Atlanta prison last year. He is declared to be preparing to prepare with the woman official a list of charges on which Snook will later be dismissed.

Wilcox was sent to Atlanta to investigate Snook's management of prison affairs after a department undercover operative, planted from the same office under false commitment papers, was arrested in the United States district judge at Detroit, had been discovered and ousted. It is regarded as particularly significant that he should be summoned to Washington at this time, following closely the supplemental report last week by Representative John J. Boylan, of New York, who as a member of the House special committee on Snook, severely criticized Mrs. Willibrand for her part in the Atlanta case.

Smarting under the criticism of the Bolin report, Mrs. Willibrand, according to those in position to know, plans to seek vindication by reopening the Snook case and having him ousted as the charges of the Wilcox investigation appear to warrant such action. One of the charges known to be in the department files against Snook is that he permitted Earl Carroll, theatrical producer, to enjoy too many liberties while serving a sentence at the institution. More particularly, the charges concern alleged visits which Carroll made him in the prison hospital in violation of prison rules.

Snook himself was called to Washington during the summer to answer the charges personally and was forced to undergo questioning at the hands of the woman assistant attorney-general for more than three hours without being advised in advance of the purpose of the inquiry. Liberation of Bradley Follows All-Day Trial Marked by Sharp Clashes by Attorneys.

Acquittal of Abdon Bradley, railroad switchman, of a charge of murder in the death of J. L. Simmons, construction foreman, who was stabbed fatally on the morning of December 3, was voted Wednesday night by a jury in Judge Virlyn B. Moore's division of Fulton superior court. The freeing of Bradley followed an all-day trial which was enlivened by frequent sharp clashes between state and defense counsel for a mistrial.

Bradley admitted in court that he stabbed Simmons, but plead that the act was done in self-defense, while Simmons had him by the throat and was attempting to throttle him. The jury deliberated for approximately an hour and a half, receiving the case shortly after 6 o'clock, and returning to the jury room from supper about 7:30 o'clock.

Repeated motions for a mistrial in the case were overruled by Judge Moore. He held that the labor angle could be injected only in the defense's effort to show that one of the state's witnesses, O. W. Hughes, a nonunion man, was biased against the defendant because of Bradley's support of unionism.

Bradley pleaded that he stabbed Simmons in self-defense after the construction foreman had him by the throat and was trying to choke him to death. The defendant claimed that he opened his pocketknife with his teeth and stabbed Simmons, a larger man, while the latter was on top of him.

NATIONAL FOREST IN GEORGIA ASKED

Senator Harris's Bill
Proposes Conversion of Okefenokee Swamp in Southern Area of State.

Washington, February 6.—(Special)—Legislation to make the Okefenokee swamp region of south Georgia a national forest reserve was proposed to the upper chamber in a bill today by Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia.

It is the purpose of the Georgia senator to use the national forest commission, of which he is a member, to acquire the swamp, but in the meantime he decided to offer a bill on the subject as well.

The measure provides that the secretary of agriculture shall acquire lands embraced in the famous swamp region by purchase, gift or condemnation and that he shall determine the areas situated in this; that it shall be administered along the same lines as a similar refuge along the Mississippi river with the secretaries of agriculture and commerce authorized to make such expenditures for construction and equipment as they deem necessary.

Senator Walter F. George today presented to the postoffice department a petition signed by 97 patrons of the postoffice at Scott, Ga., urging that the star mail route running from Cochran to Dublin be extended to that point. The senator, together with Congressman W. W. Larson, stated in behalf of the patrons that such an extension would enable them to get out of Atlanta, Macon and all western Georgia at least four hours earlier than at present. Extension is made more important by the fact that the Central of Georgia railroad has just been granted the right to discontinue both afternoon trains, and it is now impossible to dispatch mail from that office later than noon, it was pointed out.

BUDGET PROVIDES NEW ATLANTA P. O.

Bartlett Approves Item in List Delayed in Reaching House Until Next Week.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS,
Special Staff Correspondent.

Washington, February 6.—While treasury department officials declined today to discuss details of individual federal building projects to be recommended in the forthcoming budget report, it was learned authoritatively that ample provision will be made for the new Atlanta postoffice and federal building which has been approved by First Assistant Postmaster General John Bartlett.

The budget report, recommending funds for postoffice structures in a number of cities, had been expected to reach the house appropriations committee today, but word came from the treasury that it will probably be delayed now until next week.

Just how much of an appropriation will be recommended for Atlanta could not be learned. The only information on this point was simply to the effect that ample provision would be made for the city. Mr. Bartlett has previously stated, however, that he expected the building, housing general federal activities as well as those of the postal service, to represent a cost of approximately $1,000,000.

Likewise department officials were reticent about the progress of negotiations for acquiring a site for location of the building on property owned by the Central of Georgia railway, adjacent to the Atlanta Terminal station.

It is understood that officials of the railroad have declined to give an option on the property, but whether the government will undertake to invoke condemnation proceedings remains to be seen. Such a course was suggested by the first assistant postmaster general in making the initial announcement of plans for the structure.

As explained by officials in the office of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Carl Schenckman, who is a member of the federal housing commission, the government will advertise for bids on property as the first move towards selection of a site after funds have been made available by congress. If the Central of Georgia railway refuses to enter an offer for the sale of the proposed site it would then be up to the officials here to institute condemnation proceedings.

The suggestion is heard, however, that some other site in the same locality, lying in close proximity to the terminal, might be accepted rather than invite a legal controversy which undoubtedly would serve to delay ultimate completion of the project. Union completion of the project. Union completion of the project. Union completion of the project.

AIR EXTENSION REQUEST GRANTED BY COLOMBIANS

Bogota, Colombia, February 6.—(AP)—The Colombian government today granted the Pan-American Airways permission to extend its service to Colombia from the Atlantic and Pacific. A request for such authorization had been made by the American legation.

It is believed here that the Pan-American Airways, under this order, will be able to extend its Miami-Panama line to Ecuador, Peru and Chile. A German syndicate heretofore has had a virtual monopoly of air privileges in Colombia.

Permission also was granted to Colonel Lindbergh to fly over Colombian territory. The official announcement said that the colonel would be allowed to land at any point on the Colombian coast.

RESERVE BOARD RAPS SPECULATION ORGIES; TO RESTRAIN CREDIT

RAGSDALE'S VETO OF SCHOOL BUDGET SEEN BY OFFICIALS

City Attorney Mayson of Opinion That Mayor
Cannot Under Law Approve Tentative Paper.

Veto by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale of the tentative budget calling for expenditure of $2,834,021.50 for operation and maintenance of the Atlanta public school system was seen Wednesday night following a ruling of City Attorney James L. Mayson to the effect that the board of education must submit a final budget, the mayor instead of a tentative one.

The board, at a special meeting Tuesday, approved the budget tentatively, but named a special committee to revise it. This formed the basis of speculation Wednesday as to whether the mayor had the legal right to approve any sheet which was not adopted by the board without reservation.

Meaning of "Tentative."
"I do not know what is meant by 'tentative' approval by the board," Mr. Mayson said. "If the board submits a budget to the mayor without setting out that it is tentative, the mayor could sanction it, but if the budget is offered to him with the reservation that it is tentative and subject to revision by a special committee, I doubt that he could approve it under the law."

George W. Powell, president of the board of education, declared that the tentative sheet would be offered to the mayor for approval and added that the idea of appointing a special committee was to revise the sheet in the event that more money is available for school purposes during the year. If this construction is placed on the tentative adoption, the mayor might have the right to sanction it, legal authorities declared.

Members of Committee.
John T. Hancock, chairman of the current expenditures committee; W. W. Gaines and W. C. Slate were selected as members of the special committee to consider possible revisions of the budget.

In the meantime, Alderman J. Allen Couch, chairman of a special committee to study the school system, the number of employees in business administration department of the school system and their salaries, prepared to submit the information to the board before the board session Tuesday.

No member of the board knew of the number employed or the salary of those employed at the board meeting. Dr. McIntosh M. Burns, chairman of a special committee to investigate alleged failure of the Loftis Hotel and Plumbing company to install fixtures in conformity with specifications, stated he would call a meeting of his committee as soon as possible, probably this week.

ALABAMA VIADUCT EXTENSION URGED

First Ward Group Lauds Proposal; Bridge Approaches Will Be Opened Sunday.

On the heels of announcement Wednesday by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale that all approaches to the Pryor street and Central avenue viaducts south of the north line of Alabama street would be opened for traffic Sunday, members of the first ward delegation in city council lauded the proposal to construct another viaduct extending from Whitehall street on Alabama to Haynes street.

The regular career of the land ended abruptly when someone noticed the tiny negro girls adorned in the expensive jewelry. Officers were notified and an investigation was hurriedly begun.

Tonight the friends of the lad are shorn of the gifts but the lad himself is looking toward tomorrow when he will claim a $3,000 reward offered by the owner of the jewelry which was lost on the highway. Tonight she telephoned officers that she would be willing to do anything to get the little negro the reward.

Meanwhile officers have rounded up the various gifts and they are safely stored in a bank here.

Mrs. Wellons Gets Custody Of Her Child

Ellaville School Teacher,
Who Eloped With Pupil, Wins Court Battle.

Americus, Ga., February 6.—(AP)—Mrs. M. M. Wellons, school teacher, who two weeks ago figured in a 2,000-mile automobile excursion with a 17-year-old boy pupil, and her reconciled husband, today won custody of the woman's 10-year-old son by a former marriage.

The award was made in superior court here after J. V. Crews, Atlanta street railway motorman and father of the child, had placed him in custody of Sheriff J. W. McArthur, of Sumter county, through a habeas corpus warrant, final hearing on which was had today.

The court reserved the right to rescind the order if there was any further proof that Mrs. Wellons was not a proper person to rear the boy, the contention on which Crews based his request for a warrant for his return. The motorman came here last Friday, the day after Mrs. Wellons returned from her automobile expedition to Toledo, Ohio, with Edwin Chapman, a pupil in the Glenn Holly Ga. school, in which she taught. Mrs. Wellons, ill at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. Z. Zerk, protested vigorously when the child was taken by the sheriff. She still was recuperating from nervous exhaustion and was accompanied in court by her husband and three attorneys.

The father of the runaway student, had during his son's absence, but withdrew the warrant when he found the youth at the home of relatives in Andalusia, Ala.

Sheriff E. G. Rigby, of Schley county, announced shortly after Mrs. Wellons' reappearance that Wellons, a farmer, that county, had come to his wife at Americus, but returned from her excursion to Toledo. The sheriff said he understood Wellons' actions as attributable to a nervous ailment which she had suffered in the past.

Curtis Crews, the child, took the stand in the course of the inquiry and in answer to questions of attorneys for Mr. and Mrs. Wellons, said he wanted to "stay with daddy Wellons."

He said his mother had taken him to the home of her mother here from Glenn Holly just prior to her disappearance with Chapman, and that Mrs. Johnson, his grandmother, had placed him in Shiloh school.

He said he had heard his mother and Chapman "fixing a date" for something, but did not know what for. Wellons also said, as did Crews, that both said they were capable of rearing the child, and gave detailed statements as to their financial status and reputation.

Crews, on cross-examination, denied he drank, or that much of his money went into intoxicating drinks. Wellons said he had had custody of the child and had cared for him since he was three years old, shortly after his wife and her former husband had been divorced.

John Johnson also testified. She said her daughter had made no statement to her about the trip to Toledo and young Chapman, who is now in the hands of the state, was a good boy.

Little Negro Gives Away $18,000 Gems

He Didn't Know Value But He'll Get Reward of $3,000.

Fredericksburg, Va., February 6.—(AP)—An eight-year-old negro boy here today had his fling at free-hand generosity when he passed among his friends jewelry estimated at $18,000 in value.

To his best girl, officers investigating the case said, the lad gave a diamond brooch and chain set with 146 diamonds and 50 emeralds. The second best drew a platinum diamond bracelet bearing 154 diamonds while to his boy pal, the lad gave a platinum diamond ring, containing one large diamond and 21 small diamonds. A pair of platinum earrings with four diamonds each, a woman's suede purse and a memorandum and check book it contained, he kept for himself.

CREDIT CONDITIONS UNDULY STRAINED BY BROKER LOANS

All Sections of Country and All Business Concerned in Situation,
Says Board Statement.

TO CHECK CREDIT FOR SPECULATION

Reserve Bank Resources
Ample for All Contingencies If Not Diverted to Wrong Uses.

Washington, February 6.—(AP)—The federal reserve board declared today that use of federal reserve credit for speculation, directly or indirectly, must be restrained. The announcement was made in a statement issued by the board in advance of its publication in the organization's monthly bulletin.

The board said it neither assumed the right nor had the disposition to set itself up as an arbiter of security speculation or values but that it was its business to see that the federal reserve banks functioned as effectively as conditions would permit.

Speculative Credit Growth.
The board called attention to the growth of speculative credit in the last year, in which loans to brokers and dealers by New York federal reserve member banks have increased from $3,816,000,000 to $5,550,000,000 and said that the growing volume of speculation already had strained credit conditions, causing an advance of 1 to 1.2 per cent in the cost of commercial credit.

"The matter is one that concerns every section of the country and every business interest," the statement said, "as an aggravation of these conditions may be expected to have detrimental effects on business and may impair its future."

Resources of the federal reserve system, the statement declared, was ample to meet the country's commercial need for credit provided they were competently administered and protected from uses not contemplated by the federal reserve act.

To Correct Abuses.
The board said that when it found conditions were arising which obstructed federal reserve banks in the effective discharge of their function, it was its duty to inquire into them and to take such measures as might be deemed appropriate and effective in the circumstances to correct them.

In the immediate situation, the statement said, that this meant the restraint of the use, either directly or indirectly, of federal reserve credit facilities in the aid of the growth of speculative credit.

The loan to brokers and dealers by New York federal reserve member

Fulton County Officers Call Meeting To Discuss Plan To Increase Revenue

Numerous Requests Received for Road Paving and Grading Are Referred to Committee.

With Fulton county facing the necessity of a program of the strictest economy this year, possibility of concerted steps to bring additional revenue into the treasury loomed Wednesday.

It was announced at the courthouse that at the request of Edwin F. Johnson, newly installed tax receiver, there would be a special meeting at 3:30 o'clock next Wednesday at the courthouse in which the county commission, tax receiver, tax collector, tax investigator and tax assessors would participate. Since becoming tax receiver, Mr. Johnson, it is understood, has been making an exhaustive study of tax conditions in the county and is prepared to submit suggestions that are expected to give the county additional funds. At present the board has been forced to turn down many projects due to lack of funds.

Requests Referred.

Numbers of requests for road paving and grading were received at Wednesday's session of the county board, practically all of them being referred to the public works committee for investigation and report. Among the projects asked by delegations of citizens are the following streets and roads: Hoyt, Cameron, Burfield, West End place, Donehue, Hill, New bitt Ferry, Walnut in Peachtree Hills, Thomas drive, Cato and several streets in College Park, including East Main street as a part of a proposed new highway to Newnan. The board also was asked to grade the grounds at Chattahoochee school.

Walter B. Stewart, chairman of the public works committee, said that little paving can be done by the county during the early part of this year because of the great expense incurred last year by the board, chiefly in the contribution to the twin viaduct project.

Mr. Stewart pointed out that the words "passed up" do not mean that the board will pave or grade a road immediately, but that the passing up of a project merely means that the work will be done as soon as labor or funds are available.

A move to change the name of the district to Cascade district failed when none of the proponents of the change appeared, while advocates of the retention of the present name were in attendance and voiced their views.

Insurance Rates Hit.

Following adoption of a resolution introduced by Commissioner Paul S. Etheridge, chairman of the board, requesting the fire insurance underwriters to rescind an "arbitrary and unfounded increase" in county fire insurance rates, the commission adopted a proposal by Captain George M. Hope to install 13 fire hydrants at intervals of approximately 500 feet on Peachtree road.

Commissioner Etheridge pointed out that the Atlanta fire department a year ago intimated that it would cease answering calls from outside the city.

and that on this information the underwriters liked the insurance rates by 15 per cent. The city did not discontinue its fire service to the county, but agreed to continue, and in spite of the fact that the 15 per cent increase in fire insurance rates persists, Mr. Etheridge said.

Following a showing by the Atlanta naval reserve unit that it is subject to riot duty call here, the commission voted a $1,500 a year appropriation to the outfit. The appropriation to the American Rescue Workers was increased from $75 to $100 a month, pending a report by the charities and juvenile committee on the request for an increase to $150.

The board adopted a resolution that no purchases of any kind are to be made except upon requisitions upon the county purchasing agent, approved by the chairman of the respective committees. The resolution, however, is not to interfere with emergency purchases or repairs. An amendment adopted provides that the expenditures by the county shall not exceed $500 without board action, except in the line of normal expenses.

PAROLE TO MRS. DUREN VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED

Vigorous opposition to the granting of a parole to Mrs. Nora Duren, of Ware county, now serving a life sentence following her conviction on a murder charge, was waged before the state prison commission Wednesday, when the plea for clemency was heard. Solicitor-General Allen B. Spence, of Ware county, appeared before the commission and presented what he said was new evidence to the effect that Mrs. Duren, husband of a woman, whom she now accuses of committing the crime for which she was convicted, was in Hastings, Fla., on the day of the slaying of Ira James, of Ware county.

Mrs. Duren's attorney, R. R. Martin, of Dawson, said that Mrs. Duren has made a confession in the case to shield her husband who, the attorney asserted, was the actual slayer of James. The attorney said Mrs. Duren had made the confession because she feared her husband and because he had threatened her.

Mrs. Russell Peoples, of Valdosta, also appeared before the commission in behalf of the woman's plea, declaring her belief that Mrs. Duren is innocent of the crime.

Solicitor Spence produced affidavits to the effect that Duren was in Hastings, Fla., on the day of the killing and had written a letter to Mrs. Duren from that town. The prosecuting attorney said he did not believe that Duren could have mailed the letter in Hastings and a letter to Mrs. Duren from that town. The prosecuting attorney said he did not believe that Duren could have mailed the letter in Hastings and a letter to Mrs. Duren from that town.

Documents Taken During Civil War Returned Here

Historical documents of the state of Georgia of rare value which were taken from the old state capitol at Milledgeville during the raid of General William T. Sherman in the war between the states, were returned to the state Wednesday by Leonard B. Herrick, of Grand Rapids, Mich. The documents were taken from the capitol by Mr. Herrick's father, a Union soldier, and they have been in the possession of the Herrick family ever since the end of that war.

Included in the group of documents is an original letter, dated July 14, 1877, addressed to the governor of Georgia and signed by Charles Thomson, secretary of congress. Enclosed with it was a printed copy of an ordinance by congress providing for government of the "territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio," which had been requested by the Georgia executive.

Another, dated April 13, 1878, addressed to the governor and signed by A. St. Claire, president of congress, called attention to violations by the several states of treaties with other countries and advising that such treaties made by the national government and ratified by congress must be observed.

The book of historical matter bore this inscription on its inside of the front cover on its return:

"Taken from the capitol of Georgia by H. J. Herrick on the memorable campaign of General Sherman from Atlanta to Savannah."

Mr. Herrick returned the articles to John S. Wilson, private secretary to Governor L. G. Hardman, and received the state's official receipt for them. They will be placed in the library.

Federal Grand Jury Returns 18 True Bills; 79 Is Total for Session

A total of 18 true bills were returned by the federal grand jury here Wednesday, concluding a three-day session which was begun Monday. This brings the number of true bills for this session to 79, while 18 criminal information papers were presented to the court. No bills for the three-day session totaled 12, while two cases were postponed because of the absence of witnesses.

WOOL GROWERS URGE DRASTIC DUTY CHANGE

Raise of Between 36 and 40 Cents in Tariff Is Asked.

Washington, February 6.—(AP)—Swamping the present wool tariff and the rules applicable to it at the customs house were proposed to the house ways and means committee today by wool growers from the American wool growers.

F. J. Hagenbarth, president of the National Wool Growers' association, the first of 50 witnesses to be called at the beginning of a three-day hearing on this section of the tariff act, suggested a raise to between 36 and 40 cents a pound in the existing duty of 31 cents on the clean content of high-grade wool in the grease.

The higher duty would apply only to finer or clothing wools or those classes known in the trade above 44's. For the grades under 44's, which are coarse wools going into the manufacture of plushes and upholstery, he proposed a duty of 24 cents a pound on clean content. Since all of these grades now come in at 31 cents, the latter rate would be a reduction of 7 cents a pound.

Seeks Clean Content.

Hagenbarth also recommended a change whereby clean content of dutiable value of wool in the grease would be determined by scouring these samples. This is now reported to be brought out, only when disputes arise at the customs house over estimates made by hand tests.

Under cross-examination Hagenbarth said the 40 cents duty on clothing wools, an increase of 9 per cent, was regarded by the growers as a fair tariff and one which would enable them to equalize their production costs with those of foreign countries.

He said South American producers could land their wool at Boston 5 cents a pound cheaper than domestic growers, but that about 20 per cent of this difference was made up by other costs and that 40 cents was a fair differential for the American sheep raiser.

The present law, he declared, was faulty in many respects.

For one thing, he said, it did not

FRANCE IMPORTS BRITISH NURSES IN FLU EPIDEMIC

Paris, February 6.—(AP)—France's influenza epidemic has become so serious that it has been found necessary to import nurses from England. This procedure ordinarily would be attended with boundless red tape, but much of this has been dispensed with in the present instance to facilitate treatment of cases in Paris hospitals.

One hospital authority today estimated about one-fifth of the Parisian population were affected. Thus far most of the cases have been mild, but in the past two days there has been an increase in pneumonia and bronchial symptoms following influenza. There has been a corresponding increase in the death rate.

Would Expand Industry.

Declaring the United States produced one-tenth and used one-fifth of the world wool output and consumed 550,000,000 pounds a year, Hagenbarth said the world production was barely keeping pace with growth of population and that with a higher tariff the American grower could expand until, in a course of a decade, he could supply all the clothing requirements of the nation.

Former Representative Mondell, of Wyoming, another witness, supported Hagenbarth's proposal, but suggested safeguards against low-grade wools finding their way into clothing.

Representative Hudspeth, democrat, Texas, supported the growers' proposals and requested that the increase to between 36 and 40 cents also be applied to Angora goat or mohair. This now is dutiable at 31 cents, the same as wool.

F. O. Landrum, Laguna, Texas, on behalf of the American Angora Goat association and Texas Angora goat raisers, in supplementary testimony on Hudspeth's proposal, said the goat raisers were in a hazardous business and were not making any money. He declared that with the higher tariff the domestic goat raiser would be encouraged to expand to the extent of meeting all American mohair needs.

ONE-MAN GRAND JURY TO INVESTIGATE DEATH

Judge Dingeman Will Conduct Inquiry, Beginning Today.

Detroit, February 6.—(AP)—A one-man grand jury investigation into the killing of Ambrose L. Hagerty during what was reported as an attempt to kill Ralph A. Wood, Wayne dotter, Mich., builder, will begin in circuit court here tomorrow. Petition for the inquiry was made by Martin Hagerty, of Chicago, brother of the slain man.

The hearing will be before Judge Harry J. Dingeman, who announced that the inquiry will be for the purpose of determining who killed Hagerty and whether a crime was committed.

He added that all the material witnesses to the killing of Hagerty, which occurred at the door of Wood's office last January 9, will be summoned. These will include Wood and Cecil T. Holt, his friend, who with him accused Wood's estranged wife of plotting his death, and 14 law enforcement officers who participated in the ambulance raid for Hagerty.

Wood and Holt are in jail at Centerville, Mich., on charges of participating in the robbery December 17 of the Sturgis, Mich., National bank, a charge made by Mrs. Wood, but which prosecuting authorities intimated yesterday might be dropped. Bonds for the two men were reduced from $50,000 to $5,000 and it was expected they would be released today.

At the insistence of John Gillespie, former Detroit police commissioner and bondsman for Mrs. Wood, the body of Ambrose Hagerty was exhumed from a Chicago grave and three bullets removed. A coroner's jury in Chicago announced it found Hagerty's death due to gunfire from "two or more persons unknown." At the time of Hagerty's death it was said he had been killed by Wood as he was about to slug the latter.

DETECTIVE SHOOTS FORMER SPECIAL DEPUTY SHERIFF

Detroit, February 6.—(AP)—A former special deputy sheriff, shot yesterday by a city detective in an alleged attempt to extort $100 from John Yova, who said the man represented himself as a federal prohibition agent, died early today.

The victim, Ebert J. Olive, was shot by Lee Sweet, detective, when he resisted arrest.

Olive was a special deputy sheriff until January 1, when his commission expired.

Norfolk, Va., February 6.—(AP)—Captain Willis Hale and Captain Walter Reed, both attached to the office of the chief of the air corps at Washington, made a forced landing today on the grounds of the Hampton institute at Hampton shortly after leaving Langley field for Pope field, North Carolina.

The plane was destroyed but neither flier was reported hurt. The men were en route to the Pacific coast.

"I sure was right - I lit a Lucky"

"So many people have made a fuss over me because in rowing back to the 'America,' after we had picked up the 'Florida' survivors, I was smoking a Lucky Strike. I can't see why there should be any excitement about this—it was the natural thing for me to do. Before we started out from the 'America' I made sure that my pack of Luckies was with me—I wanted the comfort and pleasure of Luckies no matter what happened. I sure was right. I'll have to admit that after we picked up the 'Florida' crew and started back, my nerves were completely let down. So I did the thing I always do at such times—I lit a Lucky. As long as I live, I'll never get another kick as I did from the sweet old toasted flavor of that Lucky as we were tossing about on the old Atlantic. I'm a hundred percent when it comes to 'reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.' I lay off the things that would make me flabby and light up a Lucky instead. There's too much action going on in my life to have me moving around with a lot of excess weight which I don't need. There's another thing about Luckies. The toasting process, in removing the impurities, is a blessing to us who follow the sea. It prevents throat irritation which is a constant nuisance to those who are regularly exposed to salt air."

J. M. SLATON SPEAKS
AT RED CROSS MEETInstitute Hears Address on Work of Veterans' Bureau Here.

John M. Slaton, manager of the local office of the veterans' bureau, was the honor guest and principal speaker at the luncheon meeting Wednesday of the delegates attending the Red Cross institute here. Representatives from a number of southern states were present.

Mr. Slaton told of the work the veterans' bureau is doing and explained how the Red Cross could be of assistance to veterans in helping them push their claims for compensation and hospital treatment.

He stated that the work of the bureau was divided into four main heads: Hospitalization, compensation, adjusted compensation and government life insurance. Under the first head more than 2,500 veterans were given hospital treatment in Georgia the last year and there still are 900 in hospitals. This service is to be extended, he said, which will enable the bureau to care for 2,000 more patients in the course of a year.

Speaking of the compensation, he stated that 6,300 veterans in Georgia are drawing more than $3,500,000 yearly and that 21,000 more had applied for compensation. Three billion dollars in adjusted compensation certificates have been issued to veterans all over the country, Mr. Slaton said, most of which are used as collateral for loans which are rarely repaid. More than $2,500,000 has been loaned in Georgia, he stated, only 2 per cent of which has been paid back. The government insurance he spoke of as a splendid investment.

The Red Cross institute, which is meeting in Atlanta this week, is in the nature of a training school for

HEAR AMANULLAH
ALLY WILL ATTACK
AFGHAN CAPITAL

New Delhi, India, February 6.—(P)—Reports from Kabul today stated that the bazaars there were full of rumors of an impending attack on the city by Ali Ahmed Khan, who was governor of Jalalabad under King Amanullah. A state of panic prevailed but the rumors apparently were ill founded, for it was also stated that the attacking forces had been repulsed by Bachao Sakao's troops at B. tchak, 16 miles northeast of the capital. It was believed that Ali had retired to the Jagdalak district, which is nearly half way on the road back to Jalalabad.

Reports from Kandahar said that the situation there was unchanged yesterday. That city is now the official but temporary residence of Amanullah.

Peshawar, India, February 6.—(P)—Two royal air force planes brought 28 persons from Kabul yesterday evening. Most of these were Indian women and children, although there was one European engineer named Wilson among them.

Red Cross workers and a number of them will be held in various parts of the United States during the month of February and March. The aim of the school is to develop a complete picture of the Red Cross organization, to promote its general objectives and to give information which will be useful to various local chapters in solving the problems which confront them from time to time.

The courses of study offered for the week include three required subjects: Problems of administration and organization, development of chapter programs and community relationships. The optional courses include history and development of the Red Cross, Community Chest problems, problems of civilian home service, health problems, educational problems and others.

Those in charge of the instruction courses here are Walter Davidson, J. R. Gein, William Heyner, Miss I. Matilde Harvey and Richard Thrush.

STATE HOSPITAL GROUP

Man as President; 30 Dele-

Macon, Ga., February 6.—(P)—Dr. Joe R. Clemmons, superintendent of the Macon hospital, was elected president of the Georgia Hospital Association at a meeting here today. Representatives from 16 hospitals in various parts of Georgia attended the meeting.

Other officers elected were: Carlisle S. Lentz, M. D., superintendent University hospital, Augusta, first vice president; Miss Annie Bess Feebeck, R. N., president of the Georgia State Nurses' association and director of nursing at Grady hospital, Atlanta, second vice president; J. B. Franklin, superintendent Georgia Baptist hospital, Atlanta, secretary-treasurer. Executive committee: James L. Evans, M. D., of the John D. Archibald Memorial hospital, Thomasville, Ga.; T. H. Clark, M. D., Douglas, Ga.

At the conclusion of the morning session the 30 visiting delegates were entertained at luncheon in the Macon hospital dining hall. Reports from the executive committee were heard in the afternoon and the constitution and by-laws were tentatively accepted. Three classes of membership were provided for, active personal, associate and institutional. The institutional membership is limited to hospitals. The active personnel to hospital authorities, and the associate personnel to anyone in the state interested in hospital work. The association went on record as desiring to enter the American Hospital association.

Hospitals which were not represented at today's meeting may become members of the organization by communication with J. B. Franklin, secretary, at the Georgia Baptist hospital, Dr. Clemmons stated this afternoon. The next meeting of the hospital association will be held here May 7, one day before the first May convention of the State medical association, which also will be held in Macon, it was decided.

Mayor Luther Williams delivered an address of welcome to the visiting representatives. Rev. T. H. Lawrence pronounced the invocation. Following the election of officers Dr. Clemmons took the chair and presided during the remainder of the meeting.

LEAPS FROM TRAIN
AFTER HOLD-UP,
MAN IS CAPTURED

Herkimer, N. Y., February 6.—(P)—Thomas Fialowski, 30, of Buffalo, was arrested here today by state troopers in connection with the hold-up of a New York Central train just outside of Herkimer early today.

According to the troopers, Fialowski admitted the hold-up. Two watches stolen from passengers and a little more than $40, the amount obtained in the hold-up, were found in his possession, the troopers said. The bandit who held up the passengers in the day coach on the train escaped after firing a volley of shots over the heads of the terrified victims. One shot was fired at him by Dominick Dee, of Frankfurt, as he leaped from the train while it was moving at a speed of about 35 miles an hour.

According to the story told troopers by Fialowski, he was knocked unconscious after leaping from the train and laid beside the tracks for about five hours. Later he made his way into Herkimer and boarded a bus bound for Coldbrook.

Fialowski is said also to have told the troopers that he had escaped from two prisons within the past two years and was wanted in this state and in Missouri as an escaped convict.

Fialowski's head was badly bruised and his clothing was torn. George Stanfelner, driver of the bus, had become suspicious of the man and asked James Kennedy, a passenger, to notify state police.

Kennedy dropped from the bus without arousing suspicion and telephoned police, who pursued the bus in an automobile and took Fialowski off between Middleville and Newport.

OFFICER SHOTS,
BANDIT SCREAMS;
WAS'N'T TOUCHED

Louisville, Ky., February 6.—(P)—"Boom! Boom!" said the gun of Night-Watchman William Murphy here yesterday, when Murphy saw a form fleeing through a warehouse.

"Ouch!" said the form. "Ouch! Ouch!" and it promptly did a Steve Brody on the floor, writhing in the most approved movie fashion. Night-Watchman Murphy summoned an ambulance, and the ambulance whirled through the streets with its fare, while attendants sought to ease the pain of the groaning man.

The man, George Clark, was rushed to an operating room at the hospital. After an examination, doctors pronounced him suffering from a vivid imagination. He did not have a scratch. "Clang! Clang!" said the police patrol. Mr. Clark is in the jailhouse now.

GEORGIA SHERIFF
GETS CAPTURED
CONVICT IN DETROIT

Detroit, February 6.—(P)—D. W. Watson, alias Harry Stanley and known to police as "Canada Blackie," left romance in his wake here yesterday when Sheriff George Maxey, of Bibb county, Georgia, left here with Watson, who is said to have escaped from a road camp at Macon in 1927. When arrested, Watson was with a woman who said she had sold a profitable boarding house in Toledo to accompany him to Macon in 1927. Sheriff Maxey said his prisoner has a seven-year sentence for assault and battery with intent to kill yet to serve, as well as an 11-year term for burglary.

Macon Loses Motion
To Toss Oil Company
Case Out of Court

Macon, Ga., February 6.—(P)—Motion by the city attorney to dismiss a petition for permanent injunction brought by the Southern Oil Stores, Inc., of Birmingham, against the city of Macon, was refused in United States district court here this afternoon, and Judge Ransom S. Deaver assigned the original petition for hearing on February 25. The city of Macon attempted by ordinance to bar the company from installing large underground tanks to be connected by pipe line with tank cars, though it had given the company permission to erect its station. The company charged in its suit that competitors were responsible for the fight that was made against it.

BATHHOUSE JOHN IS NOW ASSURED
OF HIS REELECTION

Chicago, February 6.—(P)—It may now be predicted, with a reasonable degree of certainty, that "Bathhouse John" Coughlin, fashion plate and poet laureate of the city council, will be elected to his nineteenth term as alderman February 25.

Assurance became doubly sure with the announcement that Bathhouse John's only opposition, Edward T. Jorja, had decided a contest would be futile.

"In view of your long record in representing the first ward of our city," Jorja told Coughlin yesterday, "I see no reason to contest your reelection. It will be a matter of electoral quibbling between us. I congratulate you and the people."

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Jonathan Bryan was the friend of General Oglethorpe and of Colonel Bull. Bryan street and Bryan county were named for him, and it is said that S. P. Bull, an important figure in the affairs of Colonial Georgia.

The Georgia Historical Society annual meeting will open at 10 o'clock in Hodgson hall. Five curators will be elected. Those whose terms expire are Dr. R. P. Brooks, of Athens; Mrs. E. E. Bullard, of Savannah; Professor P. S. Patten, of Coker college, Hartsville, S. C.; W. W. Gordon, esquire, of Savannah; and Warren A. Grice, esquire, of Macon.

The judge of the competition is Professor A. B. Moore, of the University of Alabama. His decision has been made and has been received in Savannah with much interest. It has not yet been opened and will not be opened until the meeting. The announcement will be awaited with much interest. This is the third year of the award.

THOMAS L. ELDER
NAMED MEMBER OF BOND BOARD

Thomas L. Elder, labor leader, Wednesday was named a member of the special bond committee by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale. He will succeed Jerome Jones, editor of The Journal of Labor, who informed Mr. Ragsdale that ill health would preclude his serving.

Appointment of Mr. Elder came on the heels of action by the committee Tuesday in deferring any consideration of bond issue projects until some solution of the problem of obtaining funds for operation and maintenance of the public schools system is found. Requests for funds total more than $24,000,000 while Atlanta is able to issue only approximately $8,000,000 worth of bonds.

Protest Pay Delay.

Millersville, Ga., February 6.—(P)—The Baldwin county board of education at a meeting here yesterday instructed its executive committee to adopt resolutions of protest over the alleged delay in payment of school funds by Governor Hardman.

To Elect Officers.

Waycross, Ga., February 6.—(Special)—The Live Stock Growers' association will perfect its organization at a meeting to be held in Waycross Saturday afternoon at the Waycross tobacco warehouse, when officers will be elected, according to Dr. R. J. Heyde, county agent.

SUES LUMPKIN EDITOR
FOR $25,000 DAMAGESJ. H. Moore, Newly-Elected
Lumpkin Commissioner
Charges Libel in Suit.

Dahlonega, Ga., February 6.—(Special)—W. B. Townsend, editor of the Nugget, local newspaper, has been named defendant in a $25,000 damage suit filed today by J. H. Moore, newly elected Lumpkin county commissioner, for alleged slander and libel. The case will be tried during the April term of court.

In the elections last fall W. M. Housley, Mr. Moore and H. F. Parks were elected commissioners for Lumpkin county. J. H. Jenkins also ran as a republican. On the last day of 1928, the old board, composed of Mr. Moore, chairman; W. L. Ash and R. C. Meaders, held a special session and paid off all obligations against the county and on the first day of the year left a transfer of the county bills to the succeeding board.

The county organization was checked when W. L. Ash stated that he did not believe a legal successor had appeared to assume the office in that Mr. Parks was disqualified for service because he had resigned from the office of tax assessor in less than a year. The law prohibits a tax assessor from fulfilling any office for a year after leaving the tax post. A trial on this question was held before Judge Sutton at Clarksville which resulted in the granting of Mr. Parks a jury trial which is to be held tomorrow.

Since this contest started, it is claimed by Mr. Moore that certain articles have appeared in the Dahlonega Nugget which have damaged his personal and official reputation. Among the more serious charges, Mr. Moore claims that one of the articles accused him of jury fixing in the trial to be held tomorrow.

Mr. Moore is represented by Colonel R. H. Baker, of Dahlonega, and the firm of Wheeler and Kenyon of Gainesville, Ga. Today an order was also issued by the court, restraining Mr. Townsend, editor of the Nugget, from using Mr. Moore's name in any way in his paper.

Augusta Road Open.

Augusta, Ga., February 6.—(P)—John R. Phillips, member of the state highway board, announced at his home here today that federal highway No. 1, which traverses Georgia from Augusta to Jacksonville, Fla., has been completely paved and now is open for traffic free of detours. Only a few miles remain to be paved in South Carolina before the highway will be completely paved from Fort Kent, Me., to Miami.

RANDELL ADVOCATES
U. S. HEALTH INSTITUTEBill Would Put Operation
Under Direction of Surgeon General.

Washington, February 6.—(P)—The creation of a national institute of health was advocated in the senate today by Senator Randell, democrat, Louisiana, on the theory that "its beneficent results will enter every home in the nation."

The bill he has introduced to create the institute, Randell said, seeks to "promote the health of human beings, to improve their earning capacity, to reduce their living expenses, to increase their happiness, and prolong their lives."

"It seeks to prevent disease by ascertaining its cause and applying preventive measures in advance of its outbreak," he said. "It has received the endorsements of distinguished men of science, and many national organizations of scientific research."

The bill would set up the institute under the control of the surgeon general for "pure scientific research to ascertain the cause, prevention and cure of diseases affecting human beings." The measure would establish a system of fellowships in scientific research in order to secure the proper scientific personnel and to encourage and aid men and women of marked proficiency to combat the diseases that menace human health.

The measure was endorsed by Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, who said it would help to put down influenza. No progress has been made in curbing this disease, he said.

OBREGON ASSASSIN
ASKS WRIT TO HALT
STATED EXECUTION

Mexico City, February 6.—(P)—Attorneys for Jose Leon-Toral, condemned assassin of "President-elect" Obregon, today opened their fight to save his life before four magistrates of the supreme court. They sought an amparo, or writ of injunction, to prevent Toral's execution.

There were only about 30 spectators present at today's hearing which Toral himself did not attend. The arguments of defense counsel were the same as those at the trial, namely that the crime was a political one and that the San Angeles court in which it was held was intimidated by hostile spectators.

The court unanimously refused to accept as evidence accounts printed in the local newspapers of the San Angel trial.

Washington, February 6.—(P)—Coast guard headquarters was requested today by the Canadian department of marine and fisheries to send aid to the three-masted schooner Fieldwood, which reported it had lost its rudder 330 miles off Cape Cod. The vessel, which is owned by H. BAPTIST'S DISCUSSION OF MERGER POSTPONED

Tardiness of Members Causes Deferring of Question Raised by Carnes.

Mobile, Ala., February 6.—(AP)—Tardiness in arrival of some of the members today caused the postponement of discussion of "the future of the Home Mission board" of the Southern Baptist convention by the Southern Baptist Press association in annual session here. Since the disappearance of Clinton S. Carnes, treasurer of the Home Mission board, and the resulting discovery of his defalcations there has been some advocacy of consolidation of the Home Mission board with the Foreign Mission board. This, members said, would probably be proposed in tomorrow's discussions. Carnes yesterday was sentenced at Atlanta to from five to seven years in the penitentiary on entering a plea of guilty to one of 20 indictments pending against him in a consent verdict.

With the discussion of the Home Mission board's future postponed, the editors turned their attention to other matters, with Dr. F. L. Lindsey, of Jackson, Miss., the president, presiding, and Dr. John D. Freeman, of Nashville, serving as secretary in the absence of Dr. J. S. Carnes, of Little Rock.

Declaring that the interracial political organization which has arisen in recent years making the negro a political football the greatest menace facing the American people, Dr. L. H. Bailey, of Nashville, pleaded for cold justice for the negro. He said that there are sinister forces working among the negroes, the masses of whom are appreciative of what the white people may do for them. He said the negro is worse exploited than ever before and if he needed help from the better element of white people it is now. Dr. Bailey asked the operation of the editors in his work among negroes. The association passed a resolution endorsing his work and asking the Southern Baptist convention, at its next meeting to admit a representative from the National Negro Baptist association to speak for it for at least 25 minutes and to send a representative to its convention, both to discuss mutual cooperation between the two bodies whereby religious work may be promoted among the negroes.

BRADLEY FREED IN SIMMONS KILLING of him. The defense placed Bradley on the stand as its only witness, this move giving the defense the closing argument.

In his unsworn statement, Bradley said that he was trying to persuade his wife not to leave him when Simmons, classing him with an ugly name, remarked to Mrs. Bradley that Bradley "isn't your friend."

"Who are you talking about, Jack?" Bradley asked himself as saying to Simmons. In reply, Simmons threw Mrs. Simmons off his lap, and leaped at Bradley, grabbing him by the throat and forcing him back upon the bed so that he could not get loose, Bradley said. The defendant told of running his hand into his pocket and drawing out a knife, which he said he opened with his teeth.

"Bradley struck me in the face, and everything was a blur. I struck up with the knife—I don't know how many times," Bradley stated. Simmons loosened his hold, and Bradley was able to get a leg up and kick Simmons away, he said. Bradley told the jury that after he kicked Simmons away, he hit him on the side of the head, and they clinched again. Simmons trying again to get to his feet, Bradley struck at Simmons, however, and the latter fell, he said.

Bradley told the jury that he had no desire for Simmons' life, but that on the contrary, he and Simmons had always been good friends, and he had even kept Simmons supplied with ice he picked up at the refrigerator car-loading platform.

The defendant resumed his seat at the defense table, but, after a brief conference with Attorney Sam Hewlett, informed the court he wanted to add to his statement, that "he forgot something." In this addition to his story, Bradley said that after the stabbing, Simmons told him to go away because he did not "want anybody to know who did this."

Bradley said that Simmons did not want him prosecuted, and died of a heart attack, that he "forgot something." In this addition to his story, Bradley said that after the stabbing, Simmons told him to go away because he did not "want anybody to know who did this."

'LOVE NEST' TENANT TO GET INQUIRY SUBPOENA

Kenneth G. Ormiston Will Tell of Bad Checks in McPherson Case.

Los Angeles, February 6.—(United News)—Kenneth G. Ormiston, the "love nest" tenant of the Albee Temple McPherson "kidnaping" investigation, will be subpoenaed to tell a legislative committee of asserted bad checks issued by him, the committee decided today.

The United States has during the last six years experienced a most remarkable run of economic activity and productivity. The production, distribution and consumption of goods have been in unprecedented volume. The economic system of the country has functioned efficiently and smoothly. Among the factors which have contributed to this result, an important place must be assigned to the operation of our credit system and notably to the steady influence and moderating policies of the federal reserve system.

"During the last year or more, however, the functioning of the federal reserve system has encountered interference by reason of the excessive amount of the country's credit absorbed in speculative security loans. The credit situation since the opening of the new year indicates that some of the factors which occasioned untoward developments during the year 1928 are still at work. The volume of speculative credit is still growing.

"Coming to a time when the country has lost some $500,000,000 of gold, the effect of the great and growing volume of speculative credits has already produced some strain, which has reflected itself in advances of from 1 to 1.2 per cent in the cost of credit for commercial uses. The matter is one that concerns every section of the country and every business interest, as an aggravation of these conditions may be expected to have detrimental effects on business and may impair the future of the country.

Assumes No Right.
"The federal reserve board neither assumes the right nor has any disposition to set itself up as an arbiter of security speculation or values. It is, however, its business to see to it that the federal reserve banks function as effectively as conditions will permit.

"When it finds that conditions are arising which obstruct the normal functioning of the federal reserve banks in the effective discharge of their function of so managing the credit facilities of the federal reserve system as to maintain commerce and business, it is its duty to inquire into them and to take such measures as may be deemed suitable and effective in the circumstances to correct them, which, in the immediate situation, means to restrain the use, either directly or indirectly of federal reserve credit facilities in aid of the growth of speculative credit. In this connection, the federal reserve board under date of February 2, addressed a letter to federal reserve banks which contains a fuller statement of its position.

"The firming tendencies of the money market which have been in evidence since the beginning of the year, and the steady trend of this season—make it incumbent upon the federal reserve banks to give constant and close attention to the situation in order that no influence adverse to the normal functioning of the country shall be exercised by the trend of money conditions, beyond what may develop as inevitable.

Against Credit 'Seepage.'
"The extraordinary absorption of funds in speculative security loans which has characterized the credit movement during the past year or more, in the judgment of the federal reserve board, deserves particularly attention lest it become a permanent factor working toward a still further firming of the money rates to the prejudice of the country's commercial interest.

"The resources of the federal reserve system are ample for meeting the growth of the country's commercial needs for credit, provided they are competently administered and protected against seepage into uses not contemplated by the federal reserve act.

"The federal reserve act does not, in the opinion of the federal reserve board, contemplate the use of the resources of the federal reserve banks for the creation or extension of speculative credit. A member bank is not authorized to use its funds for the discount facilities at its federal reserve bank when it borrows either for the purpose of making speculative loans or for the purpose of maintaining speculative loans.

Grave Responsibility.
"The board has no disposition to assume authority to interfere with the loan practices of member banks so long as they do not involve the federal reserve banks. It has, however, a grave responsibility whenever there is evidence that member banks are maintaining speculative security loans with the aid of federal reserve credit. When such is the case the federal reserve bank becomes either a contributing or a sustaining factor in the current volume of speculative security credit. This is not in harmony with the intent of the federal reserve act nor is it conducive to the wholesome operation of the banking and credit system of the country.

George I. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, was in conference with Roy A. Young, governor of the federal reserve board, and members of the board for several hours preceding the issuance of the statement.

MRS. WELLS GETS CUSTODY OF CHILD

purpose of the court to inflict a punishment far greater than that already sustained," said Judge W. M. Harper in the city court of America this afternoon, deciding that Mrs. Mavis Wells, Schley, had been madam, should not be deprived of her young son, Curtis Crews, aged eight and a half years.

The process had been obtained by J. V. Crews, of 213 Mason avenue, Atlanta, father of the child, after Mrs. Wells' return from Toledo, Ohio, where it is believed she went in company with Herbert Chapman, a student in Glen Holly school, where she was principal.

Mrs. Wells was not in court when the decree was entered, and Crews took a touching farewell of the child as the crowd filed from the building. With tears in his eyes, the Atlanta man walked over to Curtis, bent over and whispered something, perhaps a word of advice in his ear, and placed a kiss squarely upon the boy's lips.

It was perhaps the last time the father would see his son, and those in the court room who saw it were visibly touched by the act, the first evidence of affection evinced by Crews since coming here to fight for the possession of his boy. The hearing was a long one and consumed the entire day. Mrs. Wells was represented by J. J. Reese, of Carrollton, and James A. Fort, of America, and Zach Childers, of America, appearing for Crews.

LIGGETT MURDER TRIAL RESUMED IN NASHVILLE

Defense Springs Surprise Witness Who Saw Shooting.

Nashville, Tenn., February 6.—(AP) Resumption of the trial for murder of Walter L. Liggett, prominent slayer of Turner M. Cunningham last October 29, today, was marked by the conclusion of Liggett's testimony and appearance for the defense of a mysterious eye-witness.

Court was adjourned until tomorrow after testimony of the mystery witness, John C. Quinn, itinerant boiler maker, whose address at present he said was Boyles, Ala., but who asserted he lived in Nashville last fall.

Quinn testified that he was a chance witness to the shooting of the well-known hotel manager in the alley behind his home. He had been searching for light housekeeping rooms for a friend, he explained, when he decided to take a short cut to his boarding house through an alley.

He said he saw a man leap aside and heard a shot, followed by several others in rapid succession. Quinn said he darted through a fence and ran to his boarding house. He said his silence was caused by his desire not to be tangled up in a holdup.

On cross-examination Quinn said he had written a letter to Liggett from Boyles and that a lawyer had come to see him. His expenses, but no other money was paid him, he added. The defense did not state the purpose in introducing the witness.

Liggett resumed his stay on the witness stand when court reconvened today after a recess of several days occasioned by the illness of a juror. The young grain dealer described his surrender at police headquarters after asking a ride from a passerby, Elmer Lawrence.

On cross-examination he denied that he had told Lawrence that "it will be a long time before I ride in one of these things again, buddy," Liggett admitted, however, that Police Inspector Lon Redmond, an acquaintance, had cautioned him not to say a word to anybody, after his statement that Cunningham had fired at him, first.

Before the trial was interrupted, Mrs. Cunningham had taken the stand and admitted acquaintanceship and intimacy with Liggett over a period of six years prior to the night Cunningham ran upon his wife and the 21-year-old grain dealer at the rear of the Cunningham home.

HOOVER FEARS HE CANNOT PAY WAYCROSS VISIT
BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Washington, February 6.—(Special)—Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, today received a letter from President-elect Hoover expressing appreciation of an invitation recently extended in behalf of the mayor and civic leaders of Waycross to visit that city on his return from Florida. While promising to give the invitation his earnest consideration Mr. Hoover expressed the fear that he would be unable to find time for the visit.

In extending the invitation Senator George pointed out that officials of the city were anxious to personally present the proposal for having the Okefenokee swamp made a national forest reservation.

New Era of Development.
"Establishment of the viaduct would be like opening a new era of development and additional opportunities for a large number of the city's most substantial residents," Mr. Wardlaw said. "I cannot recommend the proposition too strongly nor can I laud the idea too highly. That it is needed is generally conceded and apparent."

"The Atlanta Improvement association has taken the matter up with city officials and is prepared to present unequivocal arguments in statistics which have been compiled by the body. The first ward is indebted to it for its progressive spirit of co-operation and to The Constitution for its assistance."

Opening of the approaches Sunday is expected to relieve congested traffic in the southern area of the viaduct work. The decision to permit the new viaduct to be built in the way possible was made in conference between Mayor Ragsdale and Walter F. Schulz, engineer.

RUMOR OF SNOOK'S OUSTING PERSISTS

member of the special prison committee, makes public sections of the evidence taken by the committee during its Atlanta hearings.

To Insert Evidence. Representative Bell has stated that he regarded parts of the Atlanta evidence, taken in secret session, was so important that they should be made known and he, the referee, plans to insert them in the record.

The evidence will be in support of Snook and in condemnation of the policy of the department in planting undercover men in federal institutions for spy work against wardens and other prison officials. Meantime the Willbrandt act is declared to hang heavy over Snook's official head. It is a matter of record that she "fired" a former warden of Leavenworth federal prison after a similar row over planting of undercover operatives, against which the warden protested, and the official, former Warden Bidle, was temporarily dismissed in the face of vigorous efforts to have him retained by Representative Daniel R. Anthony, Jr., of Kansas, republican chairman of the house appropriations committee, who, together with other members of congress, had previously given his management of the institution an official O. K.

SAFETY METHODS TO BE STRESSED BY AID OF RADIO

Safety methods will be broadcast to Atlanta audiences via the radio in a series of addresses, it was announced Wednesday by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

Some of the city's most prominent citizens will be asked to face the microphone in order to impress on automobile drivers and pedestrians alike the necessity of sane observance of rules of precaution for self preservation.

Mr. Ragsdale will begin the series himself at 7:30 o'clock tonight over WSB. Others who will appear include Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools; Mrs. Mildred Sydel and Lieutenant Jack Malcom, in charge of traffic.

LOCAL BANK STOCKS REACH NEW HEIGHTS

Citizens and Southern at
More Than $350; Fourth
National Issues New Shares.

Much interest in local financial circles has been created by the marked rise in value since the first of the year of the stock of the Citizens and Southern National bank, as well as by the splitting up of old stock and the issuance of 10,000 new shares which has been announced by the Fourth National bank. It was announced following meetings of the directors of these banks last month that each enjoyed its most successful year in 1928.

Stock of the Citizens and Southern bank has advanced in value more than $50 per share since the first of the current year, when it was selling at approximately $300 per share. Share of $355 had no take-off it was stated Wednesday, while one stockholder asked $380.

The capitalization of the Citizens and Southern is 40,000 shares with a par value of $100 each share, carrying a share in the Citizens and Southern company and also in the Citizens and Southern National bank. These companies are affiliated but not directly connected with the Citizens and Southern National bank.

A split-up of the stock of the Fourth National bank on a basis of five to one and the issuance of 10,000 new shares of stock of $20 par value were proposed at a recent directors' meeting, subsequently confirmed by the stockholders and subscriptions for this new stock close rapidly. The present capitalization of the bank is 12,000 shares with a par value of $100 and at the close of 1928, $540 a share was being bid, with practically no trading, even at this figure.

Under the new plan there will be 70,000 shares of $20 par value or an increase in capitalization from $1,200,000 to $1,400,000.

LEAK HALTS SUB TESTS OF NEW SAFETY DEVICE

Live Saving Value Demonstrated During First Two Days of Tests.

On Board the U. S. S. Mallard (by radio), February 6.—(United News.) A two-day period of unprecedented underwater sea tests which demonstrated the life saving value of newly invented submarine escape equipment was brought to an abrupt halt today when the S-4 sprung a leak after submerging in 120 feet of water.

The leak, which developed in the periscope of the sub, was discovered by men on duty in the control room and orders were immediately issued to bring the experimental vessel to the surface. She was made fast to the tender Mallard. Since no equipment was available to repair the leakage, the Mallard, with the S-4 in tow, began the return trip to Key West. She was expected to arrive about midnight.

The mishap occurred after Lieut. C. B. MOMSEN and Chief Torpedoman EDWARD KOLINSKI, who repeatedly trusted their lives to the previously untried inventions, and had demonstrated that escape may be made from a submarine lying helpless on the bottom of the ocean.

Starting their experiments Tuesday in 40 feet of water, the men today left the bulk of the S-4 in 73 feet of water and rose easily to the surface with the aid of a mask which is the invention of Lieutenant MOMSEN.

It will surprise you to learn that the confidence in the mask strengthened by the experiments, Lieutenant MOMSEN and Kolinski were prepared to rely on it to bring them safely to the surface from a depth of 120 feet. This daring test, however, was prevented by the leak in the periscope.

Young Wife Eats Only Soup 5 Months

"I lived on soup 5 months because of stomach trouble. I tried Adierka and now I eat most anything."—Mrs. A. J. Connor.

The simple mixture of glycerin, buckthorn bark, etc. (known as Adierka), has a most surprising DOUGLE action. It acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel (most medicines act on lower bowel only) and removes foul matter that poisoned the system for months. It clears GAS and sourness from the stomach and bowels, bringing INSTANT relief from stomach trouble. And in addition, Adierka removes metabolic poisons which cause neuritis, rheumatism, etc.

GRIFF GRINSTEAD CLEMENCY APPEAL BEING CONSIDERED

The state prison commission late Wednesday afternoon took under advisement a plea for a commutation of a death sentence imposed by the Montgomery superior court on Griff Grinstead, following his conviction in that court on a charge of killing Homer Stuckey, a deputy sheriff. Grinstead was rescheduled last week, the new date for the execution being February 22. The plea for Grinstead was presented by Attorney W. O. Cooper, of Macon.

Letters and excerpts from the record of the case were produced by the attorney for Grinstead in the contention that mitigating circumstances surrounded the killing. Stuckey met his death when he and other officers visited Grinstead's crude swamp hiding place to take him back in custody, following his escape while serving a life sentence for another slaying.

Grinstead fired on the party, statements by attorneys said, without knowledge that the officers were officers. It also was claimed that the officers abused Grinstead's children, who reported to their father that a crowd of men with "false faces" were coming to get him. It was explained that several of the men wore masks. Grinstead's prior conviction on a charge of murder and the failure of the defense in its efforts to keep this away from the trial jury, as well as the limited time counsel was permitted to prepare a defense, were pointed to as contributing to the verdict of guilty without recommendation.

WAR SUPPLY BILL GETS ATTENTION OF SENATE

Measure Expected to Come Up for Approval in Today's Session.

Washington, February 6.—(AP)—Consideration of the $447,000,000 annual war department supply bill consumed the major portion of the senate's time today, but it failed to pass the measure before adjournment. The bill, however, is expected to be approved early in tomorrow's session.

Before suspending business for the day the senate adopted a resolution requesting the shipping board to postpone its sale of the United States and Merchant Marine lines and ordering an inquiry of the bids for the vessels.

The Caraway measure for the regulation of cotton and grain sales on favored markets was laid aside for the war department bill which occasioned scant debate.

Minor bills including many dealing with Indians and western public lands were acted upon by the house, but that body found more interest in the agreement between Speaker Longworth and Chairman Bennett, of the naval committee, to take up the cruise construction measure tomorrow than in the business on the floor.

An effort will be made to leave the house except changes made by the senate in the naval measure at the outset of the session so that the bill can be sent to President Coolidge without further delay.

Representative Bennett said he would offer an amendment to the pending naval appropriations bill for funds to start the construction authorized in the next fiscal year. Action on another treaty—granting tariff autonomy to China—was completed by the senate foreign affairs committee. A favorable vote followed an explanation of its provisions by Secretary Kellogg.

America's legion representatives were joined by Secretary West in approving, to a house committee, the Johnson bill to give the Veterans' bureau charge of all federal activities concerning war veterans. The house ways and means committee continued taking the views of witnesses after witness on tariff revision. Fifty persons were present to testify on the wool levies, which will be up for at least three days.

A bill to authorize the payment of 4 per cent interest on all trust fund accounts in excess of $500 held by the United States to the credit of an Indian tribe, was passed by the house. The measure now goes to the president.

A bill to provide for the liquidation of the assets and winding up the affairs of the War Finance Corporation after April 4, 1929, was introduced by Chairman McFadden, of the house banking committee. A similar measure was introduced in the senate two days ago.

Lettershead printed on corn stalk paper were distributed at the house side of the Capitol by Representative LaGuardia, republican, New York, to call attention, he said, to the possibility of corn stalk paper as a potential market for corn stalks and corn cobs, thereby bringing additional revenue to the corn farmers.

METHODIST BOARD WILL HEAR POLISH EDUCATOR TONIGHT

Dr. Wladyslaw Dropiowski, director of a large Methodist school in Klaryse, Poland, will be the featured speaker at a dinner to be given at 6:30 o'clock tonight on the Ansley hotel roof by the Methodist Episcopal church, south, general mission board.

Bishop Beauchamp will act as interpreter for the distinguished Polish speaker.

Dropiowski is an expert English scholar, but speaks with a decided foreign accent and it is feared that part of his message may be lost if not interpreted to the gathering. Bishop Beauchamp was assigned to work in Poland for a number of years and is thoroughly familiar with the language.

Another feature speaker of the evening will be Dr. Frank S. Ouderdonk, superintendent of the Texas-Mexican mission, in addition to addresses by these prominent visitors, talks will be made by Dr. H. W. Cox, president of Emory university, and Mrs. W. A. Albright, acting president of the woman's missionary conference.

CARNES TO BEGIN WORK ON BOARD BOOKS TODAY

Confessed Embezzler Will Go Over Accounts at Fulton Tower.

Clinton S. Carnes, defaulting treasurer of the Southern Baptist Home Mission board, who Tuesday was sentenced to serve from five to seven years in the penitentiary, today will begin his efforts to aid officials of the board straighten out his badly-tangled accounts.

Books of the mission board will be brought to Carnes' cell at the Fulton tower where, with members of the board's administrative staff, he will point out various irregularities and assist in weeding out alleged false entries.

The task of Carnes and the mission board officials is expected to require about 30 days. The work done by Carnes on the mission board accounts will be done under his agreement with the board, which resulted in his having obtained only a sentence of from five to seven years on his plea of guilt on one of 20 indictments pending against him.

Though no assignment for Carnes has been made by the prison commission, it was indicated Wednesday that he would be sent to one of the several convict camps of the state instead of to the state prison farm at Milledgeville.

Carnes will not be sent to the state prison farm at Milledgeville. Judge Vivian L. Stanley, a member of the prison commission, said, Judge Stanley would not comment further on the situation or explain his statement. It was held probable that the prison commission will await Carnes' completion of the mission board tasks before assigning him a place to serve out his sentence.

After-Effects of Flu More Dangerous Than Flu Itself

One of the peculiarities of influenza is that its toxins leave the digestive system upset. Constant "dozing" for the cold which comes so frequently after a flu-attack still further disturbs the digestion and lessens the appetite, just when the body needs nourishment more than ever.

And yet these colds are so apt to develop into bronchitis or pneumonia that they must be treated at the first sign.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable here, because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting a delicate digestion. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.—(adv.)

Ability of Gress In Spanish Wins Cuban Film Case

The unique honor of a Georgia lawyer appearing before a Cuban court and winning a case in that court in which all records prepared by the Georgia man were in the Spanish language is held by T. R. Gress, assistant attorney general of Georgia. Mr. Gress received notice Wednesday that the Cuban supreme court had decided the case in his favor.

Mr. Gress was retained by an American motion picture company to fight a law which prohibited showing of a film to an audience composed of men only. A statute of Cuba prohibited such showings and Mr. Gress made a fight against the constitutionality of the statute. All records in the case were prepared by Mr. Gress in the Spanish language and he appeared some months ago and argued the case in Spanish.

For years Mr. Gress has been studying Spanish and is one of the foremost authorities in the south on that language. He recently delivered an address in Spanish before the Foreign Trade club.

night. I had neuritis in both shoulders and could not move them without intense pain. Indigestion, dizziness and headaches kept me miserable day and night. My strength was at such a low ebb that the lightest housework exhausted me. For a long time I took soda every day trying to relieve the indigestion. I also took all kinds of medicines, but nothing gave me lasting benefits. I became dreadfully discouraged and did not know which way to turn.

"Four bottles of Sargon made a new woman of me. My digestion is perfect. My nerves are calm and my sleep sound and restful. I never have headaches and dizziness again. I have been wonderfully strengthened and my energy has been increased so that my housework is a pleasure. But best of all, my nerves were terribly overwrought by my neuritis. I haven't a pain about me now. I hope this statement will help others to find the splendid health I now enjoy."

Theatre Guild Players Open At the Erlanger Tonight

Beginning tonight at the Erlanger, the New York Theatre Guild Repertory company will begin a nine nights' engagement, in the course of which it will present four contemporary dramas of the first rank.

Tonight and again on Thursday a week hence and also at the matinee Saturday of next week, the company offers "Ned McCobb's Daughter," by Sidney Howard, who wrote "The Silver Chord," "They Knew What They Wanted." The play is a study of contrasting New England and New York types and the conflict comes when the brother of a retired sea captain offers to help save the family from disgrace, if it in turn will help in his bootlegging ventures.

For Friday night the play is "John Ferguson," by St. John Ervine, a drama of Irish life, in which the artistry of the playwright and the producers has worked a miracle of a not unacknowledged situation, which is developed in fine drama. The play is the first guild production to win success, and started that organization on the brilliant career which has made it the American foremost producer in the field of fine drama. It will be repeated next week.

Saturday matinee of this week will see presented S. N. Behrman's "The Second Man," a brilliant comedy by a young American who has become one of the most interesting figures in contemporary drama.

This Saturday night the play will be George Bernard Shaw's "The Doctor's Dilemma"—a brilliant satire in which Shaw voices several unorthodox opinions regarding science and takes up cudgels on behalf of the artist folk of the world. The Shaw opus will be repeated on the following Monday and Wednesday nights.

The guild's repertory company has been particularly chosen from finished actors, who are veterans of repertory work. The staging of the four plays has been done according to the high artistic standards which have won that organization its present distinguished place in the American theater.

The guild includes Elizabeth Rind, Warburton Gamble, Edwin Maxwell, Brandon Evans, Peg Entwistle, Neal Caldwell, P. J. Kelly, Richard Stevenson, Alan Mowbray, Payson Edwards, Lowden Adams, Beatrice Hendricks, Jack Quigley and others.

QUEEN MOTHER'S BODY IN STATE AT PALACE

Madrid, February 6.—(AP)—The body of Queen Mother Maria Christina, of Spain, who died early this morning at the royal palace, lay in state today while an unbroken line of persons passed the casket in silence.

Spain, still troubled by the threat of political unrest, has entered a period of national mourning. The king and queen of Denmark, who are on their way to Madrid for an official visit, are expected to arrive in Barcelona at 10 a. m. Thursday. They will participate in several ceremonies arranged in their honor.

The royal family received hundreds of telegrams today from all over Spain expressing sorrow. General Valeriano Weyler, the 93-year-old former captain-general of the Spanish forces in Cuba, called at the royal palace yesterday to express his sympathy. It was during the regency of the late queen mother that General Weyler attempted to stamp out the Cuban insurrection prior to the Spanish-American war.

Coming to Erlanger.
Lewis Haase, manager of the Erlanger, announces the engagement of "Rio Rita," the brilliant musical comedy hit, for the week of February 18. Coming with a cast of 116 and two orchestras, this memorable musical success will undoubtedly be viewed as one of the outstanding events of this or any other season.

Recently in New Orleans and Birmingham all box office records are said to have been shattered by "Rio Rita." For two years "Rio Rita" held undisputed sway on Broadway, and is now being seen on tour for the first time. A scenic and musical rare loveliness, created by Joseph Urban, is carried, and rich and costly costumes adorn the piece. The cast contains many names long familiar on Broadway, several international beauty prize winners, and a large and graceful ballet. Mail orders will be filled in the order of their receipt, and the public seat sale will start February 14.

Keith's Georgia.
"Adoration," the current feature at Keith's Georgia, is furnishing the fans plenty of real entertainment. Taking place in Petrograd and Paris, the story comes to life with startling beauty under the deft treatment of the two capable leads, Billy Dove and Alma Nelson. Called forth to exert her full powers, Miss Dove proves that her emoting powers are on par with her beauty—and that's saying a lot! An exciting bill of vaudeville, headed by Alma Nelson completes the program.

Loew's Capitol.
The only act of its kind in vaudeville, "A Night at Luna Park," is being shown at Loew's Capitol. The star on the troupe is Sylvie Chester, half man and half woman. Other vaudeville acts on the program are Pease and Nelson, popular song writers; Boyce and Evans, dancers; Hal and Carlson, comedians; and Helen Carlson, "Viking Venus." The feature picture is "The Last Warning," with Laura LaPlante in the leading role.

Howard.
Atlantians are giving the Howard band show a rousing reception this week in the inauguration of the new policy, with "Lo, Everybody," offered by Louie Lowry and his Merry Musical Men and featuring Harry Savoy and the Gamby-Hale girls. Every minute moves with swift entertainment. While on the screen Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose" is bringing ripples of laughter. In this splendid cast are Nancy Carroll, Buddy Rogers and Jean Hersholt. This famous stage play has been brought to the screen under the direct supervision of Miss Nichols herself and follows the original stage version faithfully.

Metropolitan.
"The most thrilling picture of the week," is the remarks made covering the current feature at the Metropolitan, and the story of a man and a woman, forced to take seven terrifying and mysterious steps to a mystical Satan before they can be united. The picture is a masterpiece of suspense and the original stage version faithfully.

Rialto.
Pretty Audrey Ferris, with George Fawcett and Myrna Loy, is pleasing Rialto patrons with the delightful opus, "Fancy Baggage," a Vitaphone picture. The story relates the undoing of a multitude of mischief-makers at the Metropolitan, and the picture is a masterpiece of suspense and the original stage version faithfully.

Loew's Grand.
John Gilbert, famous screen lover, appears as the star in "Masks of the Devil," which opens a three-day return engagement. Thursday is the last of the series. This is one of Gilbert's biggest hits and is a stirring story of Vienna court life.

Empire.
Reginald Denny, one of screen's most accomplished comedians, is seen for today only at the popular Empire theatre, corner Georgia avenue and Crew street, in "Good Morning, Judge," an uproarious farce comedy of the experience of a young man who cannot keep free of the toils of the law on petty misdemeanors. He finally becomes a recognized figure at the bar and the situation leads to many fine comedy sequences.

Ponce de Leon.
Starring the underworld! The girl from Chicago, on a secret mission, fighting, loving, hating, dancing, in the haunts of New York city's most dangerous gangsters! Melodrama as powerful as the "Czars of Crime!" Action fast and thrilling! Romance as sweet as the perfume of the underworld! "The Girl from Chicago" is the attraction at the Ponce de Leon today and Friday. It features beautiful Myrna Loy and Conrad Nagel.

Relation of Henry VIII's Wives to Bailiff's Post Puzzles Job Aspirant
Montreal, Quebec, February 6.—(AP) Gabriel Vreugde, who aspires to be a bailiff at city hall, can't understand what knowledge as to Henry VIII's wives and the length of their third public has to do with the job.

He believes several questions asked him by examiners were put with the sole purpose of causing him to fail.

"The questions were—
"Who was the third wife of Henry VIII?"
"Who succeeded Cromwell?"
How long did the third republic last?"

"What religious order was created in 1534?"
"When and by whom was New Orleans founded?"

He thought the questions were put to force the corporation of bailiffs of Montreal to accept his application.

WAR VETS' COMMANDER BACK IN SAVANNAH
Savannah, Ga., February 6.—(AP)—General W. L. Grayson, commander of United States-American War Veterans, has returned to Savannah following a conference in Washington with commanders of the Republic, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans, the legion's commander being unable to be present.

The conference approved reports General Grayson said, the Briand-Kellogg pact; recommended consolidation of all federal agencies having to do with veterans under one head; equalization of all pension provisions; regardless of time or place of service; further strengthening of the federal civil service pension act; greater allowances for dependents of world war soldiers' loans on adjusted compensation allowances at a rate of five per cent per annum; and other matters of importance to the veterans.

The conference approved the custom of the heads of the various veterans' organizations meeting annually and conferring upon topics of mutual interest.

NEW OYSTER WAR MAY BE AVERTED BY COURT ACTION
Gloucester Point, Va., February 6.—(AP)—The specter of a new oyster war in Virginia was dimmed tonight with planters and militant tongs both apparently willing to submit their differences to the Gloucester county circuit court and abide, according to the tentative agreement, by the decision.

Meantime, a truce was in effect. Commissioner of Fisheries Harry R. Houston and Charles S. Smith, Jr., agreed that the court procedure was the most logical and expeditious means of establishing peace in the disturbed area.

Major General Lejeune Quits Post After 45 Years' Service

BY ALFRED P. RECK,
United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, February 6.—(United News).—A few years after the close of the civil war, a young boy of French-Canadian ancestry played soldier in Pointe Coupee parish, Louisiana. His father and his uncle had been Confederate officers and the youth was imbued with the spirit of the military.

Today a gray and grizzled veteran of 45 years' service, who had once played soldier and later made his life a war, announced his retirement from the service as Major General John Archer Lejeune, commander of the United States marine corps.

"I had always wanted to be a soldier," the general confided as he rested in his office in the navy building. "My father was an officer in the Confederate army and my greatest pleasure when I was a boy was to handle the sword he carried into battle."

"Often my father would say: 'John, I would like you to go to West Point when you are old enough.'"

"There were no vacancies in West Point and so I started in college. My people were poor, as were most southern folks at that time, and it pressed hard to keep me in school, but I learned of a vacancy in Annapolis and secured the appointment for me. I entered in 1888 and was graduated in 1892."

"After my first cruise I was certain I would never leave for the life of the sailor. My interest was in hand-to-hand combat and not machinery so at the first opportunity I transferred to the marines."

It was this interest in men which caused General Lejeune to become a member of the marine corps and to the navy to lose an excellent officer. From the time he was 17 until to be in the service of his country. In physical appearance he is still today the popular conception of a fighting man.

Gamecocks Lose To Duke, 44-39
Columbia, S. C., February 6.—(AP)—South Carolina gamecocks went down in a heart-breaking defeat before Duke University's Blue Devils on the field house floor tonight by a 44-39 score. Up to within six minutes of the final whistle the Birds held the lead, at one time running 10 points ahead of the Nickies, but in the final stages the Devils launched a flurry of goal shooting that brought them victory.

A lanky center named Croson and a flurry of goals by a short little running guard named Councillor were largely responsible for the final defeat that came to the South Carolina line. Throughout the game Croson was a brilliant star, seeming to move over the court with the speed of a track star and dropping in goals with the accuracy of a marksman. In the final six minutes, with the score tied at 36-36, Councillor was a veritable charge of dynamite that bewildered the Roosters, slipping three field goals through to send the Dukemen to a safe victory margin.

Tarheel Cagers On 3-Game Trip

Chapel Hill, N. C., February 6.—(AP)—The University of North Carolina basketball squad left tonight on a three-game invasion of the middle Atlantic states, carded for games with Virginia, Maryland and Princeton on successive days this week. This is the third long jaunt for the Tarheels this season, topping earlier invasions of the middle west and south.

The Tarheels open the road schedule with Virginia in Charlottesville Thursday night, follow with Maryland at College Park Friday night and then meet Princeton at Princeton Saturday afternoon.

After the Princeton battle the Carolina quintet returns home to stay until the conference tournament opens. The only other game away from home is with North Carolina in Raleigh, Wednesday, February 13.

Coch Jim Ashmore took only eight men on the northern trip, these being Captain Hackney, Satterfield, Cathey and Neiman, forwards; Harper and Dameron, centers; and Brown and Murrell, guards. Coach Ashmore and Manager McLean Leath filled out the party of 10.

The commission announced that the racing season will open on April 2 and close on November 30 at Bowie. Bowie will run 31 days in the spring, and Havre de Grace and Pimlico each 12 days. The season opens at Bowie.

American Loop Umpires Named

Chicago, February 6.—(AP)—Eleven of the twelve umpires who officiated in the American league last season were named today to the 1935 staff of umpires by President E. S. Barnard.

The twelfth position will be filled by George Moriarty, who returns to the American league as an umpire after two years as manager of the Detroit Tigers. He replaces Dan Barry, of Boston.

Thomas H. Connolly, veteran of the junior league umpires, again heads the list which includes William Dinneen, George Hildebrand, Clarence B. Owens, Richard Nallin, Emmett Ormsby, Harry C. Geisel, William McGowan, Roy Van Greflen, William Guthrie, W. M. Campbell and Moriarty.

The umpires will meet with President Barnard tomorrow and Friday for a discussion of the interpretation of the rules.

Although the senate voted American adherence to the world court three years ago, this nation has never gone into the court because of failure of the other powers to accept the reservations adopted by the senate to American adherence.

Recently President Coolidge disclosed that he was anxious to make another canvass of the powers of the world court. He played an important part in the framing of the world court protocol.

The American reservation, which has proved to be the big stumbling block, is that which would deny the right of the court to render advisory opinions involving this nation without the previous consent of this country to the consideration of the case.

There is a feeling among international lawyers that it is already required that the court render an advisory opinion without the nation's consent of the council of the league. If this is true then every nation would have the same right respecting advisory opinions as is asked by America.

$7,000,000 MCCARTHY WILL CONTEST ENDED
Greenwich, Conn., February 6.—(AP) Ten lawyers went into a huddle today and when they came out the contest over the $7,000,000 will of Mrs. Margaret Huntington Smith Gove McCarthy, granddaughter of John Huntington, Standard Oil magnate, had been settled and the testament promptly was admitted to probate.

The settlement yielded rich returns to Miss Peggy Gove, Mrs. McCarthy's 18-year-old daughter, and to Western Reserve university, the two parties appearing in opposition to the will with its bequest of residuary millions to Mrs. McCarthy's husband, Dr. James S. McCarthy, of Greenwich.

Miss Gove, to whom the will had left $200,000, gets 30-1-2 per cent of the residuary as well, giving her considerably more than a total of $1,000,000. The university, which got nothing by the will, although it had benefited in a previous testament by Mrs. McCarthy, receives 14-1-2 per cent of the residuary, or about $400,000.

Dr. McCarthy retains the remaining 55 per cent, estimated at between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Homer S. Cummings, former United States senator from Connecticut and chief counsel for the executors named by Mrs. McCarthy, made the announcement of the settlement to Judge Stephen Radford in probate court, after counsel for Peggy and the university had expressed satisfaction with its terms, asserting that it was a highly preferable to years of litigation.

Judge Radford closed the case by expressing his approval of and declaring the will a legal document. Documents signed by Dr. McCarthy, executing the terms of the settlement, were also filed.

Mrs. McCarthy, a daughter of Mrs. Margaret Smith, inherited most of her money from her mother's estate late last December, she died on January 11, two days after making the controversial will. Opponents of the document introduced testimony to show that Mrs. McCarthy was incompetent when she signed it on her death bed and that she had indulged in whisky during her last illness.

SANDE TO RACE UNDER RULING OF TRACK BODY

Baltimore, February 6.—(AP)—Earl Sande, once premier jockey of the American turf, may have the "leg up" on some of his own thoroughbreds during the Maryland racing season this year, following an alteration made by the Maryland racing commission today in the rule governing such cases.

The new jockey rule will allow former riders like Sande, who have become owners and trainers to ride their own horses only. Sande, who gave up riding last year because of increased weight, probably will ride in the big stakes when his horses carry 115 pounds and more.

Sande will be able to pilot his own horses in stakes and handicaps, provide his mounts are superior grade horses and are placed near the top by the handicapper. He probably will be seen in such races as the Dixie and Preakness at Pimlico next spring. The latter calls for colts to carry 120 pounds.

Another rule change made by the commission provides that in the future any turfman making a claim must make financial arrangements with the secretary before the claim is to be made.

The commission announced that the racing season will open on April 2 and close on November 30 at Bowie. Bowie will run 31 days in the spring, and Havre de Grace and Pimlico each 12 days. The season opens at Bowie.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drug store. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded. (adv.)

Why Folks
Grow Fat
It's easy to avoid

Modern science has found a great cause of excess fat. It lies in a deficient gland which largely controls nutrition. When it is weak, too much food goes to fat, too little to fuel and energy.

Since this discovery, physicians the world over have changed their treatments of obesity. Instead of starvation and overwork they strive to correct the cause.

You can see the results wherever you look. For two decades, fat has been fast disappearing. Now most people know that abnormal figures mean an abnormal condition.

Marmola prescription tablets are based on this discovery. They were perfected by a famous medical laboratory which specializes in gland treatments. People have used them for 21 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others, and the use has spread. Now Marmola is bringing to multitudes new youth and beauty, new health and vigor. Most of you have friends who know how much Marmola means.

Marmola is not secret. Its factors are employed by most modern physicians. Each box contains the formula, also the reasons for results. You will know exactly why your weight comes down and new vitality appears. No starvation is required. Simply take four tablets daily until wrong conditions are corrected and weight comes down to normal.

Try this method. Do it now. You owe that to yourself. Watch what the first box does. You cannot afford to delay.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will order from his jobber.

Kirkwood Civic League Hears Mrs. Hess Speak on Legislation

Mrs. Kate Green Hess, chairman of the Kirkwood Civic League, gave the principal address at the meeting of the league Tuesday afternoon, explaining the library bill which will be presented to the legislature by the state library commission this year, and talking on legislation as it concerns federalism. Mrs. L. J. Casals, chairman of education and literary extension, had charge of the program.

Mrs. Hess' talk was as follows: The department of legislation in the Federation of Women's clubs is concerned with those measures for which its various departments request consideration. Our legislative program is based chiefly upon resolutions passed at the council meeting and biennial conventions of the federation. Every federated club should have a chairman of legislation, whose duty it is to keep her club well-informed, not only of what the state legislature has done, but about such federal measures as are sponsored or opposed by the general federation; and to have her club pass on the bills approved by the state federation, sending them to the district chairman of legislation. Formerly the general federation indorsed certain bills, as we do in Georgia at present, but the general federation's present policy is to indorse certain principles, and work for the passage of bills embodying those principles. The following principles have been indorsed by them in regular session: The promotion of the welfare and hygiene of maternity and infancy. The protection of children from premature and injurious labor. Adherence of the United States to the permanent court of international justice. Support of the 18th amendment. Establishment of a uniform marriage and divorce law. Support of the merit system. Conservation of national resources. Establishment of a federal department of education. Establishment of a system of dealing with aliens which would provide the fullest opportunity for preparation for American citizenship. The abolition of the prison contract system. An equitable proportion of men, farm agents, and women home demonstration agents under the Smith-Lever act. The establishment of the group with several readings. Miss Bessie Goldstein, in her talk, explained the meaning of Arbor day. Miss Hannah Coleman entertained the group with several readings. Fruitful significant of Arbor day were served. Miss Fannie Hurst has canceled her contract with Junior Hadassah on account of illness, which is regretted. The chapter will present Miss Suzanne Keener, coloratura soprano, at the Atlanta theater, Thursday, March 7. She will be favorably remembered in Atlanta, having appeared here several years ago with the Emory Glee club. The fireside group meets Thursday evening, February 7, at the home of Miss Polly Gershon, 66 Fulton street. Mrs. Etoile will review "The Veil of Celars," by Ann Aguirre.

Not many of the bills sponsored by the Georgia federation last year were passed. Only the Kelly-Russell adoption bill, and a bill requiring all graduated nurses to be registered. However the same principles that were sponsored by the women last year will probably be embodied in other bills to be proposed. These include a juvenile court bill; non-support and desertion; mothers' aid; illegitimacy; raising the age of consent, and others which will have to be indorsed by the state board before they can be presented to the clubs for indorsement. The legislative library bill that the state library commission will introduce this year will most probably be indorsed by the Georgia Federation of Women's clubs. It is an act to confer upon the several counties of the state authority to levy taxes, for educational purposes, to provide for the establishment, maintenance and operation within their several counties in which municipal libraries exist, or may be hereafter established; to authorize counties wherein free public libraries are established, under this act, to accept the bequests or donations of such libraries, and for other purposes. The bill will probably be sent to each federated club when indorsed by the G. F. W. C.

Lovely Knoxville Debutante Arrives To Visit Miss Campbell

Among the most attractive of the mid-western visitors is Miss Margot Bonneyman, beautiful young debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Bonneyman, who arrived Wednesday evening to spend a week as the guest of her cousin, Miss Virginia Campbell, at her home on Anderson drive.

She was formally presented to the Knoxville society at an elaborate Mardi Gras ball given by her parents at the Cherokee Country club in January, the affair marking an epoch in social brilliance in the Tennessee city, where the young honor guest has been one of the most popular and admired of the season's buds.

At the annual executive meeting held Tuesday in the Atlanta Athletic club, the Atlanta Alumnae club of Alpha Delta Pi elected Mrs. W. C. Griffin as president for the ensuing year, and made plans for a series of bridge luncheons to extend into the spring.

Mrs. Griffin succeeds Mrs. William T. Asher, whose leadership in the club during the past year was praised in resolution thanking her for her service. The club voted to convert the monthly luncheon gatherings in the Athletic club into bridge luncheons. The play will follow the business sessions on the first Tuesday of each month.

Another important step was approval of the motion for the club to join the National Alumnae association of Alpha Delta Pi, which will extend the scope of its activities.

"My children despise eggs, yet they ought to have them"

Delight them with this sugar, vanilla and milk egg-nog!

WE RECENTLY heard a mother say that her children simply despise eggs, and yet she knew how much her children needed eggs in their diet.

There are many adults also who do not like the taste of eggs. Not only that, but many people, both children and adults, who do like eggs tire of them rather quickly.

Here is a very simple recipe for an egg-nog so delicious that it will satisfy everybody and it is almost impossible to taste egg in it.

Beat the yolk separately and blend in two teaspoons of sugar, then add half a pint of milk and whip in the beaten egg white; add ¼ teaspoon of vanilla and beat until frothy. This delicious blend may be varied by adding a tablespoon of chocolate syrup, or a spoonful of ice cream.

This tasteful drink encourages an appetite for eggs and milk, both of which are such beneficial foods for children and adults. As every mother knows, it is absolutely necessary that her children have milk, and it is very important that they have eggs.

Note what a little sugar does for taste. Sugar is nature's ideal flavor. Sugar is not only nutriment in its most inexpensive form—it adds zest and enjoyment to nearly every healthful food that is known. There is no substitute for sugar in the daily diet. The Sugar Institute.

A Craig Kennedy Mystery Story

BY ARTHUR B. REEVE.

INSTALLMENT II.

Susanna Crowe had been of the type that clung to her open blouse and team of horses. She would have nothing to do with motors, even now. They, like subways and buses, were things of the devil, to destroy and maim. She entertained rarely and sparsely, was of simple tastes. Her wants had made no serious inroads on her fortune. Under her frugality and that of her bankers it had grown until it was computed in seven figures.

There was nothing for Susanna Crowe to worry about in her future. While she was an invalid, she might live for years with no other pain than a growing gradual weakness. The suicide theory must be cast aside. But she had been found poisoned. At first the servants had been suspected. But there was lack of motive. Their alibis were perfect. They were here merely as witnesses to establish various things.

Thus naturally suspicion had dwelled down to those who might have profited financially by her death. Who would be disappointed in the reading of the will—and who would profit? She had few near of kin. One by one they had been eliminated, leaving only Brainerd, Brainerd had a reputation, too, not exactly disreputable, but such that people smiled at the mention of Brainerd's legal advice. As an attorney he was of a type increasingly common in these days, sharp and sleek. It was better to have Brainerd working with you than against you. And as fact and suspicion developed, Brainerd had been accused, held, indicted.

I shall make no attempt to give the trial in detail or to present the evidence except in a general way. The servants were called, for example, but not much of importance was developed in that way. However, the eccentricities of the victim were brought to light and her relations with her relatives brought out for judicial eyes as the backstairs and kitchen viewed things.

The state at this stage of the case was banking its strength on the recent will Susanna Crowe had made. There was the motive. Next came the facts of the case, the autopsy, the finding of the poison—cyanide—in the body, proof of the crime.

"Doctor Norton!"
Now one felt the tenseness in the courtroom. It is strange how the calling of a name in a case as it is being built up can cause a tenseness where indifference had existed before.

Doctor Norton was a well-known astronomer at one of the universities in the city whose gentleness and industry were bywords to most of the students who studied under him. The man hesitated before him as the witness chair. His feet seemed reluctant to carry him from the unobtrusiveness of his place with the others in the rollicking background of the court.

It seemed that one whose time had been spent in the solitude of studying the heavens revolted at this crowded courtroom, this sea of faces. His hands trembled before him as he sat down.

Doctor Norton went through the formalities of being sworn in, took his oath solemnly, and waited to be questioned.

Followed a succession of perfunctory queries leading up to the points to be developed.

"Doctor Norton," began the assistant district attorney in a casual tone, "just how are you related to the deceased?"

"My marriage. I am not a blood relation. My wife is a niece of Susanna Crowe."

"Was your wife on friendly terms with her aunt?"

"Always until recently, when there was a slight coolness. One would hardly have called it an estrangement because neither my wife nor myself would allow it to assume such proportions. We realized the age of her aunt, her natural peculiarities that would increase with her infirmities, and we made allowances. We humored and mollified her on all occasions."

Doctor Norton's voice gained a little in strength as he went on with his answers, but his nervousness was apparent.

"Did you ever hear Susanna Crowe discuss her inheritance or distribution of her money after her death?"

Doctor Norton's lips opened and closed, emitting no sounds. He seemed overcome with sorrow. With compassion he looked in the direction of Brainerd, sitting so tensely in his chair, flanked by the counsel and an assistant. He turned to the judge as to a friend.

"Your honor, I can't stand this. I know nothing about this murder."

and I don't want to say a thing that will in any way help to jeopardize a fellow man. I . . . His voice trailed off.

The judge looked at him kindly. "Just tell the truth, the whole truth, as you know it. Answer the questions the best you can. If what you know convicts, that is up to the witness at the bar. He should have thought of those things before."

The district attorney framed his question again. "Is the will placed in evidence the only will with which you are familiar?"

Doctor Norton's white face turned tremulously toward the prosecutor. "There was a will before this last one was found, and my wife had been the principal heir. Her aunt had appreciated her many kindnesses to her, her hours devoted to her when she had been seriously ill. But of late there had been this coldness, not so much interest shown in my wife."

The district attorney nodded, glanced at the jury as if to emphasize the restraint of Norton in refusing to mention that Jack Brainerd was the chief beneficiary of the second will. He turned again to the witness. "The new will. Were you present when it was read?"

"Yes. It was read the day after Susanna Crowe was buried. All the relatives were asked to gather at the office of the attorney of her lawyer. Those who could get there attended, and it was a surprise to most of us when we heard that Mrs. Norton was left with a few hundred dollars by her aunt."

"Had you heard anything about a new will before that reading in the office of the attorney for the bank?"

Doctor Norton smiled wanly. "I suppose the family is like most other families. The members know what is transpiring, at least they think they know. There were rumors and indications that things were not as harmonious as before."

"What do you mean—rumors and indications?" insisted the prosecutor.

"I mean that several times my wife and I had called on Susanna Crowe, a friendly call. Her eyes were bad and Mrs. Norton would read to her. But her last visits to her aunt were decidedly a trial to my good-natured wife. Now all her kindly ministrations were refused ungraciously and the last two visits she wasn't even seen."

"Was any one else present at these times beside yourself?"

"During all these visits Mr. Brainerd was about the house," the astronomer answered, reluctantly. "He seemed as if my wife was not to be allowed with her aunt, alone. There was no way of offsetting this influence. Then we heard through other relatives of a new will, made by Thomas Brainerd the chief beneficiary."

Questions followed as to what relations had made these statements about the new will, and the prosecutor was back again, skirting the subjects of "rumors and indications."

Doctor Norton continued, after one carefully framed answer: "That, at least, is how it looked to me. Those things I know. But of the murder, if it was murder, I know nothing."

He looked over at his vacillating chair. "It was easy to tell that he was not at home in courts."

I could not avoid reflecting how different Brainerd's attitude would have been if the situation were reversed. Nor could I understand the almost crushed, hopeless spirit that Brainerd could not seem to conceal, try as he would. It was unlike the man whose reputation as a slick attorney was almost national. Was it that he was trying to conceal that unsavory fact? Was an appearance of docile helplessness calculated to gain a little sympathy, a little leniency from that jury?

"When and where did you see the accused on the day of the murder?" Again there was silence, reluctance, and the question had to be repeated.

"I had hoped," answered Norton, resigned to telling now—"I had hoped to intervene in my wife's behalf. The Saturday noon before the evening of Susanna Crowe's death, we thought we would go to see her. We took a taxi, my wife and I. When we reached the house we saw Mr. Brainerd entering just ahead of us. It would be a useless call, we knew. We didn't even get out of the taxi—simply turned and left the place. I went to the observatory and my wife went home."

Doctor Norton's tortoise-shell spectacles were the object of his constant solicitude. In his nervousness he took them off repeatedly. Fingering them awhile, he would replace them in a halting, half-absent manner. His life was surely the life of books, of the observatory, and the skies above him. Other questions intending to throw the onus on Brainerd were met by disclaimers from him, or so it seemed.

RASKOB DENIES HE IS TO BECOME HEAD OF BIG BANK

New York, February 6.—(AP)—The Associated Press yesterday incorrectly quoted the New York Times as saying that John J. Raskob, chairman of the national democratic committee, is being considered for the post of chairman of the board of directors of a $50,000,000 bank reported in formation under the name of the National Union Bank and Trust company.

Mr. Raskob in a telegram to the Associated Press from Palm Beach denied any connection with the proposed bank, and the Associated Press assumes full responsibility for the inadvertent error. The newspaper said it had learned authoritatively that neither Mr. Raskob nor former Governor Alfred E. Smith would have any connection with the bank, although they had been reported as prospective officers.

COLD DAYS HALT SPRING PLANTING IN DIXIE STATES

Washington, February 6.—(AP)—Weather and cold conditions for the week ended yesterday, summarized by the department of agriculture, say that in the southern states some field work was accomplished, but preparation for spring planting was not active, because of the coolness, rather frequent precipitation and wet soil, though in the southwest, principally western Texas, moisture is still needed. The rather low temperatures in the southeast were favorable in retarding development of fruit buds. Potato planting has been largely completed in the Mississippi district, and Florida and some spring crops were seeded as far north as southern Oklahoma. Strawberries are plentiful in Florida, but are late in Texas.

BORDEN CAPITAL STOCK SPLIT UP IS RECOMMENDED

New York, February 6.—(AP)—Directors of the Borden company today recommended a split-up of capital stock on the basis of two shares for one and reduction in par value to $25 from $50 a share.

Directors asserted the par value reduction would be of decided advantage to stockholders, who were called to take action on it April 17.

2 NORTH CAROLINA GIRLS HITCH-HIKE TO SARASOTA, FLA.

Sarasota, Fla., February 6.—(AP)—Report came with great haste account for two young high school girls from Greensboro, N. C., spending today in Sarasota, instead of at their classrooms in the Carolina city, they revealed.

Faced with the problem of having to take home report cards with "failures" to make good, written on them, Alice Hayes, 18, and Florence Younger, 15, said they decided to leave their school books and make an unheralded visit to their old friends here—the family of Tim Malone.

Armed with a small automatic pistol, two cans of soup, a box of crackers and overnight bags covered with college stickers, the girls set out for Florida last Saturday. Hiking and getting rides from motorists, they arrived here last night and dropped in unexpectedly on the Malones.

Their parents were notified and J. D. Younger, father of Florence, is due here tonight. The girls said they would appeal to their parents to permit them to remain here and go to school.

Younger's part in the future plans of the girls, however, is problematical, but the Malones expect that two seats in the Greensboro school will have their usual occupancy shortly.

Final Quotations Lower With 1 to 10 Points Decline

New York, February 6.—(AP)—Unsettledness over the credit situation, created by the announcement that the federal reserve board would issue a statement after the close of the market, brought heavy selling into today's curb market, and prices generally closed lower. There were a few conspicuous exceptions, but final quotations disclosed a long list of declines ranging from 1 to nearly 10 points.

Public utilities were among the hardest hit. Electric Bond & Share fell 8 points, but recovered part of its loss, and American Gas & Electric, American Super Power A and B, Electric Investors, Mohawk Hudson warrants, Power Company of Canada, and United Gas Improvement lost 4 points or more. Empire Power touched a new high at 97, but cancelled its gain.

Standard Oil of Indiana ran into some profit-taking, closing below 60 for a net loss of 3-1/2 points. Other oils weakened in sympathy, with selling stimulated by reports of a further increase in crude oil production and the likelihood of further price cuts. Standard Oil of Kentucky and Ohio, Vacuum, Gulf of Pennsylvania and International Petroleum all closed 1 to 3 points lower.

GOLD SHIPMENTS TO UNITED STATES WORRY ENGLAND

London, February 6.—(AP)—Gold shipments to the United States are causing some anxiety in the money market and there is fear that the bank rate will possibly have to be raised unless the difficulty can be relieved through a meeting between Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. Mr. Norman is now in New York.

Yesterday 1,688,268 pounds in gold left for the United States aboard the Mauretania. This was followed to day by the sale of 1,701,883 pounds in bars which probably will be shipped on the liner Paris tomorrow, also for the United States.

These two transactions are responsible for the disquietude on the money market which has been allayed only slightly by the New York exchange rate hardening a fraction to 4.85.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN.

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, February 6.—(P)—Fresh broadening out of European demand for corn from the United States had a decided strengthening effect on grain values today. Export buying of corn was acknowledged as amounting to at least 700,000 bushels, with further quantities being sought, especially in the south and southwest, and with speculators actively purchasing corn for future delivery.

Closing quotations on corn were strong, 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 a bushel net higher. Finished 7-8c to 1 1/2-2c, oats 1-2c to 1-3c, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 2c.

At first, a good many traders in corn appeared to be inclined to favor the selling side of the market, but their offerings were readily absorbed. Later, it became apparent that trans-Atlantic buying of corn had taken on much larger proportions than has been the rule of late, and that supplies being tendered to Chicago from rural sources were relatively small.

On the other hand, foreign shipping demand here was the best in some time, and industries here were buying grain. Under such circumstances, the word that 50,000 bushels more corn was being arranged for today to come to Chicago from Missouri river terminals failed to act as an offset, and the Chicago market went steadily up-grade in almost a straight line.

As a consequence, Chicago closing prices for corn future deliveries were at virtually the day's top level. Adding to the upward impetus of the market was a forecast of cold waves spreading tonight across Iowa and southern Illinois, and the fact that the Chicago market was steadily up-grade in almost a straight line.

Unsettled firmness of Liverpool wheat quotations notwithstanding yesterday's downturn here did much to today to turn Chicago wheat values upward, especially as indications pointed to continued heavy use of wheat by consumers all over the globe. A notice of a hand said farmers in European countries were feeding wheat to livestock. Current reports also indicated signs were being made to livestock, but with foreign buyers of land.
